Nixon: Kennedy's Stand On Isles Irresponsible

Will Defend Matsu, Quemoy Until Administration Leaves Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration reasserted Saturday its determination to defend the Chinese islands of Quemoy and Matsu against any Chinese Communist attack directed beyond them at Formosa.

In speaking out through the presidential press secretary, James C. Hagerty, the White House thus apparently sought to give a domestic political boost to Vice President Richard M. Nixon in his compaign dispute with Sen. John F. Kennedy.

At the same time, the action served as a reminder to Red China that despite the argument between the Republican and Democratic presidential nominees, basic U.S. policy on Quemoy and Matsu stands.

The policy affirmation is good until the Eisenhower administration leaves office next January. Nixon says that if elected he will continue the same line. Kennedy has sharply assailed the present U.S. stand on Quemoy and Matsu and declared it should be revised.

The Quemoy - Matsu argument has developed the only sharply defined foreign policy disagreement between the presidential contenders so far in the campaign.

The White House stepped into the debate over Quemoy and Matsu after the contenders had stated clashing views in their television radio debates and in campaign speeches.

Hagerty told reporters "the position of the President and the vice president on this matter is exactly as stated" in a letter which Eisenhower sent to Sen. Theodore Francis Green, D-R. I., in October 1958. Green was then chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He was critical of administration policy on Quemoy and Matsu.

Kennedy in his debate with Nixon Thursday night quoted a sentence from the President's letter, evidently to support his contention that Quemoy and Matsu are not important enough to justify U.S. military involvement. He noted Eisenhower had written to Green: "Neither you nor any other American need feel that the United States will be involved in military hostilities merely in defense of Quemoy or Matsu."

Hagerty emphasized that the entire letter should be considered in any discussion of the offshore islands.

The two islands are only a few miles off the Chinese Communist coast. They are 100 miles from Formosa. Like Formosa, they are held by Nationalist forces under President Chiang Kai-shek. In the decade since the Reds drove Chiang to Formosa Quemoy and Matsu have been subjected to periodic Communist bombardment.

In January 1955, during one of the recurrent Formosan crises, Congress passed a resolution authorizing the President to defend Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands and other positions which in his judgment might be necessary to their defense.

In the letter to Green which was reaffirmed by Hagerty's statement Saturday, Eisenhower cited the Formosa resolution, saying it authorized "the securing and protection of such positions as Quemoy and Matsu only if the President judges that to be required or appropriate in assuring the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores."

"I shall scrupulously observe that limitation contained in the congressional authority granted me," Eisenhower said.

Kennedy Attacks Nixon's Stand On Social Legislation

WITH KENNEDY IN PENNSYLVANIA (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy Saturday night pictured Vice President Richard M. Nixon as "brandishing his fist" over Quemoy and Matsu while standing against progress on social legislation.

He also heaped scorn on Nixon's widely publicized "kitchen debate" with Soviet Premier Khrushchev which the Republican presidential nominee's supporters point to as evidence of his experience.

The Democratic presidential candidate, speaking at a party rally in the Johnstown War Memorial Auditorium, kept up the steady bombardment of criticism he had aimed at Nixon throughout a day of motorcading through western Pennsylvania.

During the fast-paced day, Kennedy also predicted a Democratic victory in the Nov. 8 election and in his address in Johnstown outlined a program to rescue Cuba from the Communist camp.

The crowd in the arena was estimated at 8,000 to 10,000 by police.

Kennedy said Nixon may talk about the Quemoy and Matsu islands, held by the Chinese Nationalists off the Red China coast, and "wave the saber" but said that he would like to see Nixon come here and say what he has done for Pennsylvania.

On great social issues like medical care for the aged, housing, urban renewal and aid to education, Kennedy said, "The Republican party has stood against progress and so has Mr. Nixon."

"How can he brandish his fist four miles off the coast of China," Kennedy asked at another point, "while there is another Communist dictatorship off the coast of the United States."

Referring to Nixon's "kitchen debate" in Moscow, Kennedy said that "Mr. Khrushchev has not seemed overly scared since that conversation."

In his drive to win Pennsylvania's big block of 32 electoral votes, the Democratic presidential candidate devoted the day to a motorcade through highly industrialized western parts of the state.

It was Kennedy's third visit to Pennsylvania since his campaign started—and his second this week. He was accompanied by Gov. David L. Lawrence and Sen. Joseph S. Clark.

At stops along a 125-mile route from Sharon to Johnstown, he kept poking at Nixon as "a trigger-happy candidate" with a record "so changeable and contradictory that his political philosophy defies definition."

He told a breakfast rally in Sharon that he thinks the people "want a candidate who does not have to issue statements every day, saying what he is and what he is not, depending on what section of the country he is in and which audience he is talking to."

"Mr. Nixon is we do not know what," Kennedy said, "but whatever it is, I think Mr. Nixon and the Republican party will be rejected on Nov. 8, 1960."

At New Castle, Kennedy told a police-estimated crowd of more than 10,000 in the parking lot behind the City Hall that in Los Angeles Friday Nixon described himself as "a practical progressive."

But Kennedy said that five months ago, in writing to a conservative Republican, Nixon said "I have consistently and outspokenly classified myself as an economic conservative."

"What is Mr. Nixon?" Kennedy jibed as the crowd laughed. "The practical progressive? The outspoken conservative? The old Nixon? The new Nixon? The modern Republican? The old-fashioned Republican?"

Kennedy said that "Rather than all these definitions which Mr. Nixon and Madison Avenue developed, which are market-tested and then put forth, I prefer to go by the old word of the Bible, 'By their fruit, you shall know them.'"

After hitting at Nixon's stand on minimum wage, medical care, and distressed areas, legislation, Kennedy said that "The people are not interested in Leap Year liberalism."

Douglas Charges Nixon Defends Special Privilege

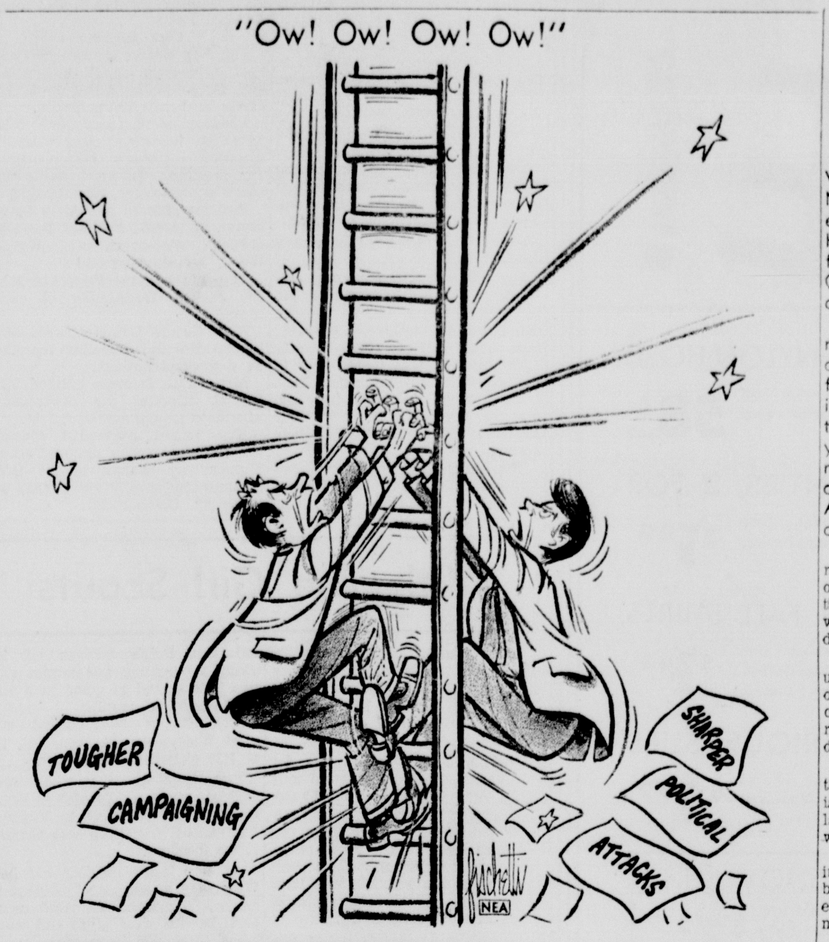
CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., pictured Vice President Richard M. Nixon Saturday night as a defender of special privilege.

Douglas, running for a third term, fired his criticism at the Republican presidential nominee at a 31st Ward Democratic dinner in the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Douglas said he and the Democratic candidate for president, Sen. John F. Kennedy, favor reduction of the oil depletion allowance but Nixon recently "justified it before a nationwide television audience."

Sen. Douglas called the allowance a "notorious tax loophole" and pledged to renew efforts to reduce it for oil and gas companies with gross incomes of more than $5 million a year.

"I'm glad to say that Sen. Kennedy has supported me in this in the past," Douglas said. "Mr. Nixon has defended this special privilege."



Time Bomb Defusing

Macmillan Calls For Spring Summit Meet

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called Saturday for a summit conference in the spring to remove the sputtering fuse from the German and Berlin problem.

The British leader implied that he and Soviet Premier Khrushchev already have agreed on the need for such top-level negotiations, to be held after a new president has taken over direction of the American government.

Addressing a meeting of 5,000 enthusiastic Conservative party workers, Macmillan declared Britain had a key role in improving the international climate. He said the world situation "has substantially worsened" since Khrushchev torpedoed the summit talks in Paris last May.

Carefully selecting his words, Macmillan declared big power negotiations on Germany and Berlin must be resumed, as this constitutes "a potentially dangerous problem, from the point of view of East and West alike."

Macmillan also called for a resumption of disarmament negotiations. To get things going in this field he suggested Eastern and Western scientists begin by joining in technical studies of arms problems.

In his wide-ranging speech, Macmillan also made it plain Britain hopes now to come to terms with the French-led Common Market and thus end the present commercial division of free Europe.

He promised that his government—in dealing with the remaining dependent British territories in Africa—will seek to meet the legitimate aspirations for self-government of native Africans while also protecting legitimate rights of white settlers in those areas.

As a sidelight Macmillan noted the ideological dispute now going on between Khrushchev and Communist China. The Communist Chinese believe the ultimate triumph of world communism must be accompanied by war. Khrushchev holds communism can win by peaceful competition with capitalism.

Macmillan said that in his view Khrushchev's position made more sense, but that even so the Soviet leader was wrong because ultimately the free world's material, moral and spiritual values would triumph over all dictatorship.

Carrier Leads Investigation Of Mystery Contact In Pacific

HONOLULU (AP) — A mysterious underwater object which the Pacific Antisubmarine Force commander said "is a long way from known submarine bases" drew a swift search Saturday by a U.S. aircraft carrier and four destroyers between Hawaii and the mainland.

The 40,000-ton attack carrier Kearsarge, carrying three squadrons of antisubmarine warfare planes, rushed into the search on such a sudden emergency basis from Long Beach Friday that it left some crewmen in port.

Vice Adm. J. S. Thach, Pacific Antisubmarine Force commander, said the object "is a long way from known submarine bases and is in an area under my command, and I want to know what it is."

The Navy maintained a considerable hush-hush atmosphere.

Thach said the Navy may not announce if and when the Kearsarge makes contact. He indicated there might not be any further information on the operation.

Thach said the reported location "does not particularly indicate" the object has nuclear capabilities." He said the Air Force plane crew which made the contact reported only one object was sighted.

He declined when asked to comment on speculation the contact was a Communist submarine.

He said there have been previous sightings of unidentified objects in the same general area of the Pacific.

In explaining why he would not go into more detail on the location, the admiral said: "We want to play the chess game as well as we can.

"This is not a war scare. This contact is in an area where it has every right to be."

That referred to international waters. The Soviet Union and Red China have been estimated to have about 100 submarines operating in the Pacific.

Thach said if the object sought is sighted or contacted by the Kearsarge group, "they will look for a reasonable amount of time."

Earlier a Navy source had said: "If it's a Russian sub, it has a right to be there; we would only keep it under surveillance."

A spokesman at McClellan Air Force Base near Sacramento, Calif., said an unidentified submarine definitely was sighted more than 400 miles west of Fort Bragg on the northern California coast on Oct. 2.

LODGE BLASTS KENNEDY'S STAND ON MATSU, QUEMOY

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican nominee for vice president, said Saturday the presidential election is "no old-fashioned political rivalry between Republicans and Democrats."

"This election takes place during a life-and-death struggle with the Communists on one hand and those who would save their freedoms on the other," he said.

Lodge spoke before a crowd of 3,000 persons in front of the Lycoming County courthouse in this central Pennsylvania community.

Many in the audience had waited two hours for the Lodge party which was delayed in its arrival by plane from Pittsburgh by heavy fog.

At the courthouse, Lodge, talking without notes, hit again at Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, on the Quemoy-Matsu question.

"Instead of giving us a new frontier, Kennedy is rolling back the frontier that we've got," said Lodge.

Says 'Frightening Foolishness Is Increasing Risk Of War'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Saturday that every day Sen. John F. Kennedy "persists in this frightening foolishness" over Quemoy and Matsu "he increases the risk of war."

"The error Sen. Kennedy makes is to advocate a change in America's policy of firmness, in spite of the fact it is a policy which has worked time and again these past years," Nixon said in a statement issued as his campaign continued from Phoenix, Ariz., through Tulsa, Okla., and to Springfield.

The effect of Kennedy's statements on Quemoy and Matsu, Nixon said "has been to present to the enemies of freedom in the world a picture of an America divided on this great issue."

"Therefore," he added, "I call upon him again to surrender his own position rather than America's position—to concede his error rather than concede bits of freedom to tyranny."

Kennedy's position has been that the two Nationalist Chinese islands just off Red China's mainland are indefensible and not worth the risk of an atomic war.

Nixon calls this "naive and, in fact, dangerously irresponsible . . . The result can only be to encourage the Chinese Communists to step up their attacks."

"Every day that he persists in this frightening foolishness—every day that he continues to picture an uncertain and divided America—he increases the risk of war," Nixon's statement said.

In repeating his call on Kennedy to change his position, Nixon said: "If he does so, he will be joining the great majority of Americans of whatever political faith who support President Eisenhower's wise position on this all-important matter."

Nixon began stepping up his drumfire on the Quemoy and Matsu issue at his first rally Saturday in Phoenix. He emphasized his contention that Kennedy should change his stand. And he accused Kennedy of seeking to change established U.S. policy on the defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

Kennedy contends there has been no established policy and that the status of the islands has been left vague. He has cited military authorities and high administration officials as saying at various times that the islands are impossible to defend. He says they shouldn't be tied in defense of Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa.

At Phoenix Nixon served notice he'll use no notes during the next television debate with Kennedy but he'll raise no objections if Kennedy does.

Nixon announced this through his press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, after a rain-sprinkled morning rally in a Phoenix high school football stadium.

Nixon had expressed shock when Kennedy referred to notes for verbatim quotations during their third debate Thursday. But he said then he would make no formal objection. Klein contended notes were against the ground rules.

Klein said representatives of both candidates were meeting in Washington Saturday to iron out differences on arrangements for what Klein called the "final" debate.

These differences include the length—Nixon has suggested a two-hour debate instead of one hour—and the date. Kennedy wants it to be held as late in October as possible.

Klein's use of the word "final" for the next Kennedy-Nixon debate apparently indicated that the originally scheduled Oct. 21 debate definitely would be skipped. Nixon had proposed the vice-presidential candidates take that one over, but Klein said he knew of no arrangements to do that.

Nixon flew eastward to Tulsa, Okla., Springfield, Ill., and Hartford, Conn.

Two Americans Sentenced To Die In Cuba Early Today

HAVANA (AP) — A military tribunal Saturday night sentenced two Americans to die at Santiago, a superior tribunal rejected their appeals for clemency, and they were ordered to be shot early Sunday.

The two are Robert O. Fuller of Miami, Fla., and Allan Thompson of Queen City, Tex., members of a 27-man expedition from Miami, Fla., that landed last week on the northeast coast of Cuba.

Thus Prime Minister Fidel Castro's military courts handed out the same swift sentences they meted out last week to a third American member of the expedition, Anthony Zarba of Somerville, Mass.

Thompson who also gave a Mooringsport, La., address, and Fuller were picked up only Friday in the hills of eastern Cuba, birthplace of Castro's own revolution, army sources reported.

The court found them guilty of armed revolt against the state.

Two Cuban members of the expedition captured with Fuller and Thompson were given 30-year terms. They are Juan Gonzalez and Angel Rivero Sanchez.

During the trial Fuller admitted having come with the expedition, asserting that land his father had acquired and owned "honorably" in eastern Cuba had been taken from him. His father, William O. Fuller, now lives in Miami. He formerly operated a large farm near San German in eastern Oriente Province.

Thompson refused to testify.

Meanwhile, another military tribunal at Havana's La Cabana military fortress completed hearings in a case involving another American, Leslie Bradley of Minneapolis.

Bradley and 12 others are accused of collaborating in a fake plot to invade Nicaragua from Cuba with official sanction of the United States in order to embarrass the Cuban regime.

The prosecution in the closing argument reiterated a demand for 16-year terms for Bradley and Nicaraguan exile Chester Lacayo.

The Havana military tribunal said the sentences would be announced at 6 p.m. Monday.

Modifying his original demands, the prosecution called for only five years for Dominican Miguel Angelo Ramirez and five Cubans and acquittal for five other Cubans. He had originally asked for 16 years for all.

At about the time the sentences were being passed at Santiago, Castro went on a nationwide TV hookup denouncing the United States and accusing it of aiding and abetting counterrevolutionaries.

Referring to the invaders that included the three Americans, Castro charged they were headed for the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo when they were caught.

Castro declared there still were a few armed counterrevolutionaries operating in Cuba but predicted they soon would be liquidated.

Last week, his military tribunal at Santa Clara, and the one at Santiago tried 195 persons on counterrevolutionary charges in less than 24 hours. Thirteen defendants were executed in the two trials.

Another American, Richard Pecoraro of Staten Island, N.Y., drew a 20-year sentence at the Santa Clara trial.

U.S. May Accept Plan To Enlarge Disarm Committee

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States was understood Saturday to be keeping the door open to enlargement of the 10-nation Disarmament Committee if U.N. debate should show a majority in favor of that.

But while the United States might agree to the addition of five more countries to the committee, this did not necessarily mean it would accept all the five that the Soviet Union has proposed to add.

The issue will come up soon in the assembly's Political Committee, where a Soviet resolution is pending to put Ghana, India, Indonesia, Mexico and the United Arab Republic on the Disarmament Committee.

The Soviet idea is to supplement the Eastern and Western sides on the negotiating body with a neutral side of equal strength.

The U. S. view, as authoritatively reported, represents a shift from the position taken at the 1959 Geneva foreign ministers' conference of Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States.

At that conference, the United States agreed to give the Communists straight parity with the Western Allies on a committee to resume disarmament negotiations broke off two year earlier.

So the committee was set up with a membership of five Communist countries—Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and the Soviet Union—and five Western countries—Britain, Canada, France, Italy and the United States.

Now the United States is willing to go along with three-way parity —East, West and neutral—on the committee if there is majority sentiment in the United Nations in favor of that. But it is still considering which countries should be added.

Operate Atomic Energy Plant Despite Strike By Workers

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—The nation's largest atomic energy plant continued full operation Saturday despite a strike by 2,000 union production and maintenance workers.

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union Local 9-288, struck the huge gaseous diffusion plant Friday midnight to back up demands for a 28-cent hourly wage increase. The facility produces fissionable uranium-235 for atomic weapons.

About 1,000 workers at a similar plant at Paducah, Ky., voted overwhelmingly to accept a 9-cent-an-hour wage hike and not strike.

Supervisory personnel stepped in to operate the Oak Ridge plant as they did in 1954 when the union staged a three-day walkout.

A spokesman for Union Carbide Nuclear Co., operator of the plant for the Atomic Energy Commission, said the negotiations were stalemated by "extraneous matters" brought up by the union.

John Bates, local president denied this. "We have not been talking anything but wages," he said.

The company official, who with held use of his name, gave this account: "We are going into the final year of a three-year contract with the union. The only issue up for bargaining under a wage-reopening clause in our agreement was wages.

"We have been ready and willing to discuss wages. But the union has brought in working conditions and other extraneous matters which are not subject to bargaining at this time."

The dispute has been turned over to the Federal Mediation Service. E. F. Hitchcock, federal mediator, said no negotiations sessions had been scheduled and added: "I'm keeping in touch with both sides and will continue to do so until this thing is settled."

The current hourly pay scale at the plant ranges from $2 for common labor to $3.15 for skilled technicians.

Meanwhile, the Atomic Trades and Labor Council, bargaining agent for 4,500 workers at two other atomic plants here, has accepted, subject to member approval, a 9-cent hourly increase. This would raise the scale at the facilities to $2.09 for laborers and $3.24 for technicians.

Cass History

Histories of Girl Scouting in our various communities will be appearing in this column throughout the month. Cass County history includes the story of troops in Virginia and Beardstown.

As far as can be determined the first troop of Girl Scouts in Virginia was in 1932. Miss Ruth Gustafson was the leader of the Scouts from 1933 to 1944, a record of service to be proud of. Former members of the troop now living in Virginia recall with pleasure the many outdoor activities they enjoyed together at that time.

Miss Mary Margaret Blackburn became the next leader and served for several years part of the time during World War II and in spite of the wartime shortages and restrictions, she conducted many outdoor activities and social gatherings they all enjoyed. Mrs. William Lang, Mrs. Jack Raywood, Mrs. Dorothy Sinclair and Mrs. Ralph Coleman were among the mothers who assisted.

Miss Alice Kricke was founder of Girl Scouting in Beardstown in 1923 or 1924. Eight or nine troops were started. She is now deceased. Mrs. Marie Gladhill was a leader under Miss Kricke; she taught at Beard school. There are interesting records of troop activities in 1924 with Mrs. Gladhill in charge. Mrs. Gladhill is now Mrs. Walter Wichser of Beardstown.

Mrs. Vivian Rodgers was a leader in 1925, she then moved away but returned to Beardstown in 1933 and resumed Girl Scout work. She is owner and editor of the Illinoian Star, a newspaper in Beardstown.

From then on Girl Scout troops flourished in Beardstown except for a period of ten years preceding 1950. In that year activities were resumed and continue to the present day.

This Week's Schedule

Activities for the coming week in Girl Scouting in Illinois Prairie Council include an important meeting of the training committee at 9:30 a.m. Monday, Oct. 17, at the Scout office and of the membership-nominating committee on the same day at 7:30 p.m. in the Scout office.

Hillview schools will be visited Tuesday morning in the interest of starting new troops and Jefferson school that afternoon at 2 p.m. Mrs. Hartman conducts these mothers' meetings whenever there is an indication of interest in a Girl Scout troop.

Delegate training for the National Council meeting to be held in St. Louis in November will be held on Wednesday morning, Oct. 19, from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock at the Scout office. Mrs. Howard Choate, Mrs. Jack Wise, Mrs. Robert Hartman and Mrs. Ralph Sullivan will be taking the training and anyone else who is interested in going as a visitor is asked to attend.

Scott County Neighborhood will meet Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 19, at 1:30 o'clock in Winchester.

Two Neighborhood meetings were held last week; on Tuesday in White Hall and on Thursday in Virginia. International friendship was stressed at the meetings.

An open board meeting was held Wednesday at the Scout office with a good attendance of board members. Reports were given and action taken on several proposals.

Carrollton Celebration

Approximately 400 persons attended the Founder's Day observance and dinner held last Monday in Carrollton at the Robin Hood Country club. Honored guests were Mrs. Carroll Tapp, Mrs. Arch Howard, both of Carrollton; Mrs. Wesley Carpunky of Jerseyville, Mrs. Robert Hartman and Mrs. Ralph Sullivan of Jacksonville, and Senior Scouts Gail Ward and Janet Rowe of Jacksonville.

Brownies and Intermediate Scouts of Carrollton opened the program with the traditional flag ceremony and presented Indian skits in original costumes made at camp this summer.

Mrs. Friend Wells, founder of the first troop in Carrollton, was unable to be present but plans to attend the Founder's dinner in Jacksonville on Oct. 24.

After talks by each guest, Bud Hardaway officially opened the Girl Scout finance drive in Carrollton. Cards were given to fathers of the Scouts in attendance. The drive will continue until Oct. 25.

In White Hall last week the Jay-Cees Woman's club had a bake sale to raise money for the Scouts. Everyone cooperated, including the Scouts who made centerpieces for the serving tables, and assisted with the serving of coffee and doughnuts, which people could take advantage of while making purchase of delicious home-made baked goods. A very good profit resulted.

Troop Activities

Troop No. 46 of Lincoln school, Jacksonville, Mrs. John Newcomb, leader, is working hard on the photography badge. Last week Jim Cash, a high school student, visited the troop and showed the girls how an enlarger works. Each girl enlarged a picture. This week John Linebaugh from the Camera Shop spent an hour with the troop demonstrating photographic processes and letting the girls do the processing. Mrs. Dorothy Grabill will assist at all the meetings in November and teach the girls leather tooling. She is also donating the leather scraps for the project.

Miss Mildred Moser and Mrs. Marcia Myers, students at MacMurray College and leaders of Troop No. 20 of Salem Lutheran school, with eight Intermediate Scouts spent two nights two weeks ago at the Camp Shagbark on Lake Jacksonville. They reported a very successful venture with the girls advancing in their badge work in fire building, cooking and setting up camp. They planned troop programs for the year and enjoyed a nature hike in addition to the usual program of singing and games.

DON'T FORGET TO SELL CALENDARS THIS MONTH! Be sure to come to the office for a supply of calendars for your girls to sell. We still have a big supply on hand. This is an ideal way to make money for your troop.

We are a United Fund agency.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

National Newspaperboy Day was celebrated recently, and we were interested to learn that a lot of men who are right now in top spots in their fields started out as newsboys. Practically every category you can think of is represented. . .business, education, government, religion, sports, and the arts. Ex-newsboys in government include President Eisenhower, Supreme Court Justice William Douglas, and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover. Movie and TV personalities who started as paperboys number Ernie Ford, Ralph Edwards, Danny Thomas, and Richard Boone among others. And sports stars such as Olympic champ Rafer Johnson, baseballer Duke Snider, and ex-heavyweight king Jack Dempsey all once proudly peddled their papers. The newsboy is an honored American tradition . . . and one that has produced some of the top men of our time.

In Ala., after a rash of lawsuits by women claiming they tripped and were hurt on city streets, a town introduced a bill to outlaw spike heels over an inch high and less than an inch in diameter. That's short and to the point. For value and dependability in a used car, make it a point to come to E. W. Brown's. Our good clean stock of late model used cars features only mechanically-sound, thoroughly-reconditioned automobiles. And they are now being featured at prices below their true values. See them soon. YEARS BRING CHANGING STYLES IN MAIL TRUCKS

THIS 1906 U.S. MAIL TRUCK - loaded with sacks of letters and parcels destined for delivery within cities and towns of a younger Nation, is a sharp contrast to the new, light-weight, standard mail vehicles developed under the mail service improvement directives of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield to meet the needs of modern 1960 America.

POSTAL MODERNIZATION - replacing the old antiquated vehicles of yesterday is the new "Mailster," economical, light-weight, and extremely maneuverable, enabling the postman to speed the mails into the thousands of rapidly growing suburban areas throughout the Nation.

Mail volume in the Jacksonville area contributed to a new national record of nearly 64 billion pieces of mail, including a billion pieces of parcel post, during fiscal year 1960 ending last June 30, Postmaster Phillip Day reported Saturday.

Based on advance information from the Annual Report of the Department, which has been made available to Postmaster Day, it was revealed that the present day figures represent an increase of 25 per cent over the 1953 volume which totaled 50.9 billion pieces.

This increase, along with a sharp discontinuance of mail-carrying trains in recent years, has helped foster a complete revolution in postal transportation including far more extensive use of highway vehicles, he said. Locally, the transportation pattern for mail has changed in the following minner: no more trains—all mail is received and dispatched by truck.

In Illinois, in June of 1960, 2,633 Government owned postal vehicles were in operation. That compares with 1,693 in June of 1953. During those years, 1,696 new vehicles have been delivered to Illinois Postmasters, 656 vehicles having become absolete.

In the State of Michigan in June of 1960, 1,486 Government owned postal vehicles were in operation. That compares with 803 in June of 1953. During those years 1,064 new vehicles have been delivered to Michigan Postmasters, 441 vehicles having become obsolete.

Today, 85 per cent of the vast postal vehicle fleet — operating under a modernization and improvement program initiated in 1954—is composed largely of new types of standard, commercial, light-weight, maneuverable vehicles. This conversion, he noted, has meant the "retirement" of worn out units—many in use for ten years or more—which, in turn, has greatly reduced maintenance costs for the Postal Service.

Described as a vital part of this program which was launched approximately seven years ago under the direction of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, vehicle unit purchases during fiscal year 1960 amounted to more than 8,500 as compared with 115 similar purchases during fiscal year 1953.

"The motor vehicle inventory on June 30, 1953, was 18,968," Postmaster Day said, "and although the 1960 statistics are not yet in final form, it is estimated that more than 34,000 new vehicles have been purchased since fiscal year 1954 and that the 'retirement' of old vehicles the inventory total on June 30 of this year was just a little under 37,000 vehicles.

"Still another development of vital importance in connection with motor vehicle service is the fact that 119 new maintenance facilities have been constructed since January, 1953, to service this fleet. Ten more were under construction June 30 and 25 more are now in the planning stage. are now in the planning stage."

Mrs. Richard Lippert reported 61½ dozen cookies were sent to Boys Town of Illinois, near Grafton, the first week of October. Mrs. Harold Kruse gave a report of the 20th District Board meeting held in Jacksonville recently.

It was voted that the club will again sponsor a Community Halloween parade and party on Saturday night, Oct. 29, with Mrs. George Morrison in charge. Cookies for the party will be furnished by club members.

N. Jacksonville PTA Hears Frank Moffitt

The regular meeting of the North Jacksonville Community Club was held Oct. 11, at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium. The president, T. E. Glossop, called the meeting to order. Scouts from Cub pack 129 presented the flags and led the group in the pledge of allegiance.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. John McGinnis. The treasurer's report was given by Mitchell Spotts.

During the business meeting, Mr. Glossop told of the Community Club's responsibility in sponsoring Cub pack 129 and the North Jacksonville 4-H Club. He mentioned that, at the present, there is no active Girl Scout troop at the school. Anyone wishing to volunteer their services in leading such a group is asked to contact either Mr. Leiber, at the school, or Mr. Glossop.

Joseph Leiber, principal, introduced Frank Moffit, history teacher of Jacksonville high school, who presented the evening's program. Using an outline map of the U. S., Mr. Moffit told of the trip by the Donner-Reed party from Springfield, Ill. to its destination in California in 1846-47. He presented a vivid account of the preparations necessary to such a trip and gave a thumb nail sketch of personalities envolved in the expedition. He followed with a detailed description of the journey and mountain tragedy.

Mr. Moffit said that the hardships endured by the Donners and Reeds were by no means unique. The reason for intensive attention given to this particular expedition by histerians is because of the large number of children involved.

A social hour followed the program. The next meeting will be Nov. 8, at 7:30 p.m. C.S.T.

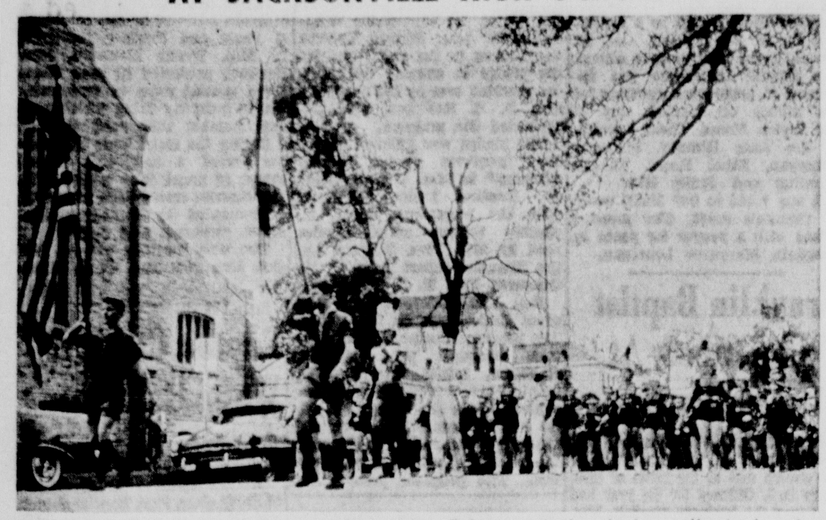
Homecoming Weekends For JHS, Illinois College, MacMurray

AT JACKSONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL



The beginning of the march — the Colors and the Jacksonville high school band.

The winning float in the JHS Homecoming Parade Friday afternoon was this entry by the Future Farmers of America.

The freshman class entry.

Founders' Day Held At MacMurray For Alumni And Guests

"The finest of the past, the best of the present, and the promise of the future."

Taken from a recent speech by President Gordon E. Michalson to MacMurray College freshmen, this phrase was the theme of the fifty-second annual Founders' Day at MacMurray Friday.

Highlighting the day's activities were the traditional Founders' Day Banquet and Ball in the evening, an afternoon band concert, and a morning convocation.

Editor Speaks

Milburn P. Akers, college trustee and editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, addressed the banquet. He reaffirmed the ideals of coordinate education at MacMurray, and stressed the necessity for constant upgrading of quality throughout the institution.

"We must build an 'academic escalator' on which each college's academic quality mounts," he said. "And the quality of our students must be not only in academic capacity, but in the potential of being a great human being."

Mr. Akers also spoke of the meaning of Founders' Day, which each year commemorates the meeting of the first board of trustees to found MacMurray College for Women in 1846. This year's activities took special significance, with members of the Founding Class of MacMurray College for Men, begun in 1965, having reached their year of graduation.

"The act of founding a college is not sufficient," Mr. Akers told the gathering of students, faculty, trustees, founders, and friends of the MacMurray Colleges. "Real founding must go on continually—generation to generation with no end. Real founders connote to me men and women of dignity, courage, and purpose, who see a job to be done, and do it."

Former President

The group was greeted by Mrs. James E. MacMurray, former president of the board of trustees, Dr. Thomas Lugg, present president of the trustees, and President Gordon E. Michalson. Dr. Michalson, speaking at his first Founders' Day as college president, noted that while looking to the past was of value, "all good things have not already happened." He joined with his wife in expressing anticipation of sharing future happinesses with the college.

Mrs. Sherwood Eddy, president of the MacMurray Honor Society, presented the Alumnae Citation, awarded each year to an outstanding alumnae of MacMurray College for Women, Mrs. Alice Loveless Applebee.

President of the women's student body, Judy Stone, of Elmhurst, Ill., proposed a double toast: "To the founders who saw the need to establish the MacMurray Colleges and to bring forth their ideals; and to MacMurray in the future inculcation of these goals."

Ed Myers, president of the men's student body, and a resident of Springfield, presented the founding class of men to the gathering, and class president Dale Wolff of Webster Groves, Mo., responded.

"We as a class are grateful to all those who made this college experience possible for us" said Wolff. "I know that we will always be just as proud as we are now to be called 'Mac Men.'"

Mrs. Horace A. Schenle, former winner of the Alumnae of the Year Award, then presented each member of the Founding Class a monogrammed key as a surprise gift from the board of trustees, and the men's class responded by presenting the founders of MacMurray College for Men and the members of the board of trustees with MacMurray ties and corsages.

Norris House and Jane Hall won the interdormitory float contest, with floats depicting the founding and building of MacMurray for Men alongside MacMurray for Women. The winning dormitories were presented their awards during the Founders' Day Ball.

Dr. Chester A. Pennington, pastor of the Hennepin Avenue Methodist Church in Minneapolis delivered the address at Founders' Day Convocation Friday morning. He pointed up the constant quest for meaning in a material-orientated world, and emphasized the need of religious values in finding the way to search most fruitfully for these meanings.

"We must search out the insights behind the truth the meanings behind the facts," stated Dr. Pennington. "When God gave us Jesus Christ, he gave us the clue to the deepest meaning our life can have."

Also participating in the service led by Dean Wendell S. Dyer was President Emeritus Clarence P. McClelland.

The events of Founders' Day 1960 ended with a semi-formal ball in the college fieldhouse from 9 to midnight, to the orchestra of Bill Cellent of Springfield.

AMVET OF THE YEAR — Clarence P. Siegfried was named AMVET of the Year and received a gold plaque from Fred Daniels, past commander. Siegfried was one of the organizers of AMVETS in Jacksonville and was voted outstanding AMVET for service to the organization during the past years.

Illinois College Blueboys Triumph In Homecoming, 28-19

Joe Brooks' Eleven Makes Bid For Third Victory In 1st Half

Staying in front all the way, Illinois College stomped Simpson College (Iowa) 28-19, before an IC Homecoming crowd of 2,000 fans.

The first Blueboy score came with eight minutes remaining in the first quarter. "Moose" Patton, IC fullback, powered across from the one yard line to rack up the first six points. The seventh point was added by quarterback Bob Volk, who ran [illegible] the Redmen's left end for [illegible]. The second IC six added when halfback Sweet took off on his [illegible] yard line and raced 66 yards [illegible] the end zone, with six minutes remaining in the second quarter. The point after the TD was good by Ken Mock. The third Blue and White six point play came with four minutes remaining in the second quarter. Quarterback Volk hit his right end Ed Test on a fifteen yard pass for the 20th point. On the attempt for the point after, the pass from center was high, so Volk spotted left end Ed Puck open in the end zone and hit him for the 21st point. The final Blueboy tally came when Jacksonville's Chauncey Walker scampered 60 yards from his own 40 into pay dirt with 7 minutes gone in the second half. The 28th point was added by Mock, who split the uprights.

The first Simpson tally came in the first quarter with two minutes remaining, when halfback Nick Iaria ripped from his own 12 for 80 yards for the Redman score. The PAT was added by Pat Ray. The second Redman six pointer came with six minutes gone in the third quarter. A pass from QB Skip Giles, covering 24 yards in the air, was gathered in by Iaria on the Blueboy's 3', and Iaria went the remaining yards unscathed. The try for the point was blocked. The final Simpson pay-off play came also in the third quarter with one minute remaining as Giles passed eight yards to end Bob Coy for the TD. The PAT attempt was low.

After suffering a somewhat disappointing set-back last week to Principia, the Blueboys were waiting with eagerness for this game.

The 1960 Homecoming crowd saw their team score first. The Blueboys marched from the kickoff in fifteen plays to set-up the six point play for fullback Patton, who drove from one yard out for the score.

The next scoring play saw the Redmen tie-up the game after a pass interception gave the Redmen the pigskin on their own 20. On the first play after the interception Iaria went 80 yards before a horrified crowd. The kick for the seventh point was good and the score was 7-7.

During the second quarter the Blueboys scored twice. After the ball changed hands four times, the Blue and White started on their own 34. On the next play Sweet sprinted 66 yards to make the score 13-7. Mock added the 14th point. The next IC score came as a result of a recovered fumble by Don Boyer on the Simpson run-back after the IC score. With the ball resting on the Redmen's 29 yard line, the Blue and White went for the six points in seven plays. A Volk to Test pass tallied the 20th point for IC. Another Volk pass to Ed Puck clicked for the 21st point.

The third quarter saw plenty of action for Simpson. After three sets of plays, the Redmen's Giles passed to Iaria for the Simpson score—21-13. The point after was blocked by IC's Frank Mordconi.

IC bounced right back after the kick-off. Within one play, Mr. Whitaker was on his way for the 49 yard trip into pay dirt—27-13. The Mock kick split the uprights for the 28th IC point.

With one minute remaining in the third quarter, Giles passed to end Bob Coy for the final Redmen score. The try for the 26th point was low which made the score 28-19.

The fourth quarter saw the Blueboy bench emptied onto the field. After last week's game Coach Brooks had promised the hard-working second squad a chance under fire.

The ball remained close to the mid-field strip until the end of the game, with neither team allowing the other any appreciable yardage.

Sterling performances for the Blueboy squad were recorded by guard Bob Berry, who recovered two Simpson fumbles; defensive quarterback Tom Plaehn, who wasn't turned in at his own position all afternoon; tackles Frank Mordconi and Chuck Shepard, who enjoyed the majority of tackles, and backs Oxendorff, Sweet, and Patton, who played havoc with the Simpson defense.

Next week the Blue and White meet Culver-Stockton on the IC gridiron.

Starting lineup: LE, Puck; LT, Mordconi; LG, Reneker; C, Harry; RG, Berry; RT, Shepard; RE, Test; QB, Volk; LH, Sweet; RH, Oxendorff; FB, Patton.

After touring the United States and Canada with her programs Miss Wolfson retired from the stage to rear her family.

That retirement, however, was short-lived, for, growing in the back of her mind was the ambition to someday present Helen Keller's story of achievement.

In a series of dramatic episodes, Miss Wolfson portrays in costume Helen Keller's mother, her teacher, and Helen Keller herself. Costume and make-up changes take place before the audience.

CHICAGO (AP) — Larger supplies of hogs at midwestern terminals were blamed for lower prices on barrows and gilts in the Chicago market this week. Sows remained steady.

Although receipts at Chicago were little changed from last week the 12 market supply was the largest for any week in more than three months. A lower dressed pork trade also helped the downturn.

Pork loins declined 50 cents to $1 and Boston butts and spareribs $1 to $1.50. Top price for barrows and gilts was $18.75 for No 1 and 2 grades scaling 200 to 215 pounds. Shipping demand was poor compared with recent weeks.

In the cattle market, choice and prime steers over 1,200 pounds were 25 to 75 cents lower and slaughter heifers were steady to 25 cents down. Cows sold steady to 25 cents higher and bulls steady to 50 cents lower.

Receipts of cattle this week included between 65 and 70 per cent steers, 15 to 20 per cent heifers and about 5 per cent cows. Supplies of choice and prime steers around 1,300 to 1,500 pounds were comparatively large.

Supplies of sheep were smaller than a week ago and consisted mostly of wooled native slaughter lambs. Demand was fairly good all week with prices for lambs and yearlings steady to 25 cents higher. Ewes sold steady to strong.

ALL BEANS, SOME WHEAT MADE GAINS

CHICAGO (AP) — All soybean and some wheat contracts made further gains in the futures market this week, but the feed grains and rye suffered new setbacks.

Strength in soybean futures stemmed mainly from a widespread belief among grainmen that a tight situation is likely to develop in beans later in the season as a result of a pronounced uptrend in soybean exports.

Foreign demand also was credited for small advices in March and May wheat futures. Exports of wheat have been running far ahead of last year, especially of soft red winter wheat, which is the type which normally sets the price for Chicago futures. While there was a fair demand for the March and May deliveries, other wheat contracts dipped fractions.

Corn was under pressure most of the week with prices of all contracts dipping to new lows for the season or equaling previous lows. The weather recently has been excellent for maturing the corn crop and harvesting is expected to extend over a broad area next week.

At the close of trading Friday wheat was ⅝ higher to ⅝ lower compared with Friday a week ago. Corn finished ⅛ to ⅝ lower, oats ⅜ to ⅞ lower, rye ½ to 1 cent lower and soybeans were up 1 to 1½ cents a bushel.

Most attention this week was focused on soybeans. The government's October crop report estimated bean production at around 562 million bushels, about five million bushels less than it forecast a month earlier.

The slightly bullish report had little effect on futures, however, since a private estimate issued a week earlier had placed the crop at about 555 million bushels. Whichever proves correct, the crop is expected to be the third largest on record in the United States.

On the other side of the statistical picture, farm stocks of old crop soybeans were reported much smaller than for any recent year at less than 3½ million bushels. Thus trade observers envision a carryover which they say is likely to be no more than half as large as a year ago.

ford, Conn., after his Phoenix appearance. He will meet in Hartford Sunday with his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, to map out strategy for the final three weeks of the campaign.

This will be only the second face-to-face conference Nixon and Lodge have had since Nixon's nomination. There have been some indications lately that Nixon's associates feel the need of closer coordination of what the two men are saying in their tours.

Nixon told the rather small and somewhat damp crowd in Phoenix they would hear from his opponent in the next week a lot about declining U. S. prestige, failure in foreign policy and so on.

"The truth is, and we know, we got the United States out of one war, we've kept her out of other wars and we do have peace without surrender today," Nixon said.

Nixon accused Kennedy of trying to change established U. S. policy on Quemoy and Matsu, the Chinese Nationalist islands near the mainland of Red China that have become the top issue of the campaign.

Again Nixon urged Kennedy to "join again with the President of the United States, to join with a majority of the Senate" and support the position that "the United States is not going to make the mistake of turning over free territory to a dictator at the point of a gun."

The crowd was estimated at 6,000. The stadium seats 14,000.

Although Arizona, with four electoral votes, has a Democratic voting registration margin of 2½-1, Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater has won two terms and the state has a Republican governor, Paul Fannin. Nixon's forces expect to carry the state.

Nixon's main efforts in the past week were in his home state of California.

Two Americans Sentenced To Die By Cuban Court

In Havana another American—pilot Leslie Bradley of Minneapolis, Minn.—and 12 Cubans were on trial before a military tribunal at Lacabana fortress. They are accused of plotting a fake invasion of Nicaragua to embarrass the Castro regime. The government has charged U.S. State Department knew about the alleged plot.

The prosecution Friday night asked 16-year prison sentences for all the defendants, including Chester Lacayo, an exiled Nicaraguan who once served as Central American representative for Castro's July 26 revolutionary movement. Castro charged in a recent TV address that Lacayo had contacts with U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Paglieri told newsmen at Santiago he had been advised formally of the prosecution's demand before the start of the summary trial before a military court. A summary trial is the fastest type of trial under revolutionary law here.

Fuller and Thompson are accused of landing on Cuba's northeast coast last week with a small anti-Castro invasion force.

Prosecutor David Diaz de la Rocha asked 30-year terms for two Cubans caught with Fuller and Thompson. The four were part of a 27-man force that landed recently in Oriente Province.

A third American member of the invasion force, Anthony Zarba, 27, of Somerville, Mass., was tried and executed by a firing squad Thursday, along with seven Cuban companions.

There was some confusion earlier as to the identity of Fuller. The armed forces ministry and government press reports first listed him as Paul Hughes and said a third American, Robert Full, was still at large. The court at Santiago later identified one of the American defendants as Fuller and said he is the son of American parents.

In Miami, William O. Fuller said the two Americans being tried in Santiago are his son, Robert, 25, and Dale Thompson, about 30. Fuller said Hughes had visted him Friday.

"Bobby may have given his name as Hughes because he didn't want his mother to worry," said the elder Fuller, who formerly operated a plantation in Cuba.

Military courts at Santa Clara and Santiago last week tried a total of 195 persons on counter-revolutionary charges in less than 24 hours. Thirteen defendants were executed in the two trials.

In 1853 Navy began football by losing to Johns Hopkins, 2-0.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market this week extended its recovery into the second straight week as news and opinion regarding the economy improved somewhat.

Trading was cut down considerably by the distraction of World Series baseball and also by the semi-holiday conditions prevailing on Columbus Day, Wednesday.

Volume dipped to 10,966,610 shares from 12,208,820 the week before. It was the lowest total since the week ended Sept. 10 when turnover was 10,852,200 shares.

Gains in auto output, rail carloadings and personal income accompanied a reversal to the upside which came pretty strongly on Thursday after a lacklustre performance on the first three trading days. Published predictions of an upturn in steel production then came from the heads of U.S. Steel and Republic Steel. This inspired the shares to go ahead on Friday and resulted in another fairly sharp advance. These two days of rally more than compensated for a moderate decline on Wednesday and a do-nothing performance on Monday. The Tuesday market was an irregular affair with the popular averages up slightly.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 10.06 to 596.48, bringing this indicator once more close to the significant 600 level whose penetration some weeks ago led to much wailing and gnashing of teeth on Wall Street. It is now regarded as a technical barrier to further advance on the upside. Analysts believe that a decided switch in sentiment, perhaps aided by some bullish news, will be needed to hurdle this level.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 2.70 to 210.70, making the largest gain for this barometer since the week ended Aug. 27 when the net rise was 3.00.

Of the 1,434 issues traded this week, 721 advanced and 552 declined. Because of the comparatively low level of the list as a whole, new lows for 1960 outnumbered new highs by 118 to 29.

The most active issue this week on the American Stock Exchange was Cinerama, up ⅛ at 6⅝ on 130,100 shares.

U.S. government bonds retreated again this week while corporate prices inched sideways.

The treasury market slide, extending through a third week, was not nearly as severe as the previous week when losses were the worst in seven months. Most issues closed Friday unchanged to off ½ point.

Among corporate industrials posted a minimum gain on the AP index to equal a 1960 weekly high set in August. Utilities also had the smallest possible advance.

Volume dipped to $21.45 million par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $22.17 million the previous week.

KENNEDY ATTACKS NIXON'S STAND ON SOCIAL LEGISLATION

In a speech prepared for a rally Saturday night at the Johnstown, Pa., War Memorial Arena, Kennedy said Nixon has talked about standing up to Soviet Premier Khrushchev and taking a firm stand in the Far East and in Berlin, but hasn't mentioned Cuba very prominently in his campaign.

"And if you can't stand up to Castro," he said, referring to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, "how can you be expected to stand up to Khrushchev?"

"The transformation of Cuba into a Communist base of operations is an incredibly dangerous development to have been permitted by our Republican policy makers. The whole Western Hemisphere security system is drastically threatened," he added.

As he did in a speech in Cincinnati last week, Kennedy blamed in part what he termed a lack of foresight by the Eisenhower-Nixon administration for "this major foreign policy disaster."

Asking rhetorically what can now be done about Cuba and Castro, the senator listed this program:

1. Let the Cuban people know our determination that they will someday be free." He said this country failed to make clear to the Cuban people "our devotion to freedom during the brutal reign of the Batista dictatorship" and should promptly initiate a major broadcast program for Cuba through the Voice of America.

2. We must end the harassment, which this government has carried on, of liberty-loving anti-Castro forces in Cuba and other lands."

Kennedy did not elaborate on this point except to say that it must be recognized "that these exiles and rebels represent the real voice of Cuba and should not be constantly handicapped by our immigration and Justice Department authorities."

3. "We must let Mr. Castro know that we do not intend to be pushed around any longer and, in particular, do not intend to be pushed out of our naval base at Guantanamo or denied fair compensation for American property he has seized."

4. "We must let Mr. Khrushchev know that we are permitting no expansion of his foothold in our hemisphere and that the Organization of American States will be given real strength and stature to resist any further Communist penetration."

Norvell Scores Twice But Badgers Lose To Iowa, 28-21

Minnesota Stops Illini In Final Period, 21-10

FAN BREEZES

BY STAN SPOTTS

Journal Courier Sports Editor

If there wasn't some sore lads Saturday morning it was a miracle! The Crimsons of JHS and the Panthers of Jerseyville really staged a knock-down, drag-out affair Friday night and in all my five years of covering gridiron contests I have never seen two teams hit any harder than these two did in the first half and most of the second half. Most of the spectators along the west sidelines cringed on every tackle as though they were receiving the brunt of the jarring tackles. It was definitely a hard-nosed brand of football and an exciting contest to watch.

—O—

Coach Al Rosenberger was mad as a 'wet hen' at halftime with his line and thoroughly disgusted with their performance. He stated, "Did you ever see so many mistakes in your life as we made in the first half? Especially for this club. They're all glassy-eyed and aren't doing a thing right because they've got homecoming jitters. We've stressed all week to stay low on the charges against the single wing and grab anyone that gets in front of you but did you see them? They all stood up on every charge and Jerseyville got four or five yards every crack." Just after JHS scored on a 76 yard pass from Spangenberg to McCarty I heard Rosenberger comment, "Just a bunch of boys the first half but an inspired crew of Tigers the second half. How about that run of McCarty's? Boy, that took beautiful timing on Jack's part."

—O—

Bob Kraushaar, head skipper of the Jacks, is a hard man to get a statement from while the game is in progress but I finally collared him and asked him what he spotted in the first half to make the Crimsons a different club in the deciding second half? "First of all, Jerseyville dominated the ball in the first half and used a weakness in our line to grind out yardage but we changed the defensive assignment at the half and this correction plus the fact that we're controlling the ball this second half is probably the turning point in the game. Even though they (Jerseyville) are bigger our kids still did a good job containing them the first half despite the homecoming jitters on our part. Why is it homecoming always gets our boys off-balance and it always seems to be or comes in the first half," the Crimson mentor concluded as he hustled his defensive replacements in.

—O—

Gary Spangenberg turned in another excellent performance and proved he is the team's sparkplug as he came through to get the Crimsons in gear. On his 60 yard punt return for JHS' third touchdown he had Jerseyville baffled with his reverse of field and then his speed plus two timely blocks opened the way for his scoring dash. Anyone attending the game couldn't miss the rugged contact and I asked Ken Norton if Jerseyville was the hardest hitting ball club the Crimsons had faced this year? Ken replied, "They hit hard alright but I would compare them to Riverview Gardens as far as tackling hard." Erland Thady and Ron Yates turned in fine defensive showings from their linebacking slots and it would be an injustice to try and single out all the others that played well on defense and offense because in a team victory every player has to carry out his assignment whether it be blocking or tackling.

—O—

It's too bad the testimonial dinner for Dan Fairfield had to be postponed this Monday evening as it would have been a natural and big surprise for Don as his favorite caddy from California, Nero Thurman, is visiting in the city. Nero, quite a performer on the gridiron for JHS and Illinois College in the late 40s, was disappointed that Don wasn't available, which brought about the postponment. Thurman has visited all the local schools to see his former coaches or buddies, namely Bob Winstead of Routt. After Thurman had lived a few exciting moments with Kraushaar, he journeyed over to Routt and listened to his former teammate raking the Rockets over the coals. They talked about things in general — football — and Nero commented, "We just came from JHS and after looking at the size of some of those athletes we never had anything like that when we were in school did we Robert?" Bob's reply was, "No, we sure didn't."

Milt McPike and Bobby Watts are going great guns over at Northeast Teachers College in Kirksville, Mo. McPike, a junior, is majoring in physical education and is an end for the Bulldogs. Watts, a sophomore halfback, is also majoring in physical education.

Congratulations to Illinois College on its homecoming parade. Many hereided it the biggest and finest in years and it seems the hilltoppers always come up with something interesting for the annual event. The only time they haven't is when rain interferes.

A pat on the back also to Harry Fitzhugh, superintendent of Franklin High School. Harry was reelected to the Board of Directors of the Illinois High School Association representing Division 5 which is composed of twenty counties in our section of the state. At a meeting of the Board held in Champaign he was renamed president of the IHSA for a three year term. A fitting tribute for a grand person. Paul Blakeman, former principal at Chapin, was nominated for the commission from District 9 but he just lost by a narrow margin to Bill Lewis, former principal at New Berlin. This was an honor in itself as Paul has been in his new location only since August of this year.

—O—

Coaches Kraushaar and Rosenberger journeyed to Iowa City early Saturday morning as guests of Merkel Brothers to watth their former standout, Merritt Norvell, perform against the Hawkeyes. I know Bob and Al were just as pleased with Merritt's showing as all of us were. Norvell (No. 44) saw a lot of action both ways and was called on twice in the fourth quarter to score both Wisconsin touchdowns to bring the Badgers from a 21-7 deficit to a 21-21 tie before the Hawkeyes connected on a deflected pass with 52 seconds remaining to nail down a 28-21 victory. Norvell, who does a lot of blocking on offensive, just barely got into Iowa's end zone on both runs but his last was a honey as he spun away twice after being stopped to twist his way into the end zone. I know Mom and Pop Norvell are just as proud of the boy as all of us are and it was kind of nice for a change to hear a local boy's name being mentioned on the nationally televised scrap in addition to hearing the name of our fair city being listed after Mert had carried the ball or tackled a Hawkeye back. There's a good reason why Norvell sports Number 44. It's because his cousin, Mickey Bates, wore the same number when he played for the Illini along with J. C. Caroline.

Illini Play Host To Penn State This Saturday

CHAMPAIGN — Illinois and Penn State meet in Memorial Stadium Saturday in the third game of a series that has been all Penn State. The Nittany Lions defeated Illinois 14-12 in 1954, and 20-9 in 1959. Both games were strong disappointments for Illini.

Illinois was heavily favored over Penn State in 1954 season opener in Champaign. With the game only four minutes old, Illinois quarterback Em Lindbeck flipped a screen pass to sophomore Abe Woodson, who ran 25 yards for a touchdown. The extra point try was no good.

Coach "Rip" Engle's squad roared back with two touchdowns before the halftime intermission, first on a Don Bailey to Jess Arnell pass, and the second on a 24-yard run by halfback Lenny Moore. Penn State led at halftime 14-6.

Sparked by halfback J. C. Caroline, Illini marched to their second touchdown on the tenth play of the third quarter. The extra point try again was no good, and the day's scoring ended at 14-12.

A crowd of 14,045, smallest to watch an Illinois team since World War II, saw the Nittany Lions defeat Illinois 20-9 in Cleveland's vast Municipal Stadium last year.

Six fumbles, six penalties, and four pass interceptions cost Illini the game. Illinois scored first on a 20-yard field goal by Cliff Roberts. After the kickoff, Penn State moved the ball 65 yards in nine plays for a touchdown and thereafter never was headed. The Lions scored again early in the second quarter after gaining the ball on an Illinois fumble. Final Penn State touchdown also came on a fumble on Illinois' one-yard line in the third quarter.

Penn State's fine quarterback Richie Lucas was key man in the game, gaining 66 yards on 16 rushing attempts, and passing for 71 yards.

Roving Minstrel And Garwol 1-2 In Champagne

NEW YORK (AP) — Roving Minstrel and Garwol, an entry owned by the Harbor View Farm of Florida and New York financier Louis Wolfson, ran one-two in the $183,900 Champagne Stakes at Belmont Park Saturday.

Roving Minstrel, bought for $80,000 about a month ago, battled head and head with his stablemate for the final three-sixteenths of a mile in a furious stretch drive and won by a nose.

Garwol finished 2 lengths ahead of Frank Sherman's Bronzerullah, who set the pace for three-quarters of a mile in the one - mile event being run for the 89th time. Bronzerullah got third money by a nose over Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster in the field of nine 2-year-olds.

The time of 1:35 3-5 was the second fastest for the race, oldest 2-year-old stakes in America.

The Wolfson entry paid $8.80, $8.40 and $5.10 as the second choice of the crowd of 39,039.

Two Attractions Expected To Bolster AFL Gate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two games involving natural rivals —Dallas vs. Houston and New York vs. Buffalo—are expected Sunday to bolster the steady rise in attendance for the new American Football League.

The AFL announced Saturday that the 18 games of the new circuit had drawn 357,535 fans—an average of 19,863 a game—and popularity was increasing every week.

Houston, leader of the Eastern Division with a 3-1 record, is host at Jeppesen Stadium to the Dallas Texans, who are 2-3.

The War Memorial Stadium at Buffalo is the scene of the game between the New York Titans (3-2) and the Buffalo Bills (1-3).

The other two games Sunday are Western affairs. Boston (2-2) journeys west to meet Oakland (2-3) in a game to be played at San Francisco and Los Angeles (2-3) plays Denver (3-1) at Denver. Denver is seeking to defend its No. 1 position in the Western Division race.

While the Texans are away in the AFL, their National League rivals, the Dallas Cowboys, are at home against the Cleveland Browns.

In other NFL games, Baltimore entertains the Los Angeles Rams, the New York Giants host Washington, Detroit plays at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Pittsburgh and San Francisco at Chicago.

Weak Punt Lights The Flame To Gophers' Fourth Quarter Comeback

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Unbeaten Minnesota survived wave on wave of Illinois assaults and rallied behind the three-touchdown salvo of Sandy Stephens for a 21-10 homecoming victory Saturday.

Mauled and bewildered for three periods, the Gophers stormed for two touchdowns in the fourth period for their fourth straight victory and second in the Big Ten.

Stephens, a churning 215-pound quarterback, delivered the knockout with less than three minutes left when he rifled a 41-yard pass to Bob Deegan and then scored moments later on a twisting, dodging run from the 18.

It was a remarkable flipflop for Minnesota, a six-point favorite that seemed at times to be on the verge of being overrun by the nimble quarterback option sprints of little John Easterbrook and the fullback hammer blows of Bill and Jim Brown.

But a weak, 20-yard punt by Illinois' Mel Meyers to the Illini 43 early in the fourth quarter lit the flame to Minnesota's comeback.

Quarterback Larry Johnson, at the controls of the second team, herded the Gophers to the 3-yard line where Stephens took over at quarterback and went in from inches out for the go ahead touchdown.

Minnesota's Jay Hook and Tom Hall smashed Illinois' bid to counter attack and Stephens and Johnson drove the Gophers 74 yards in six plays for the clincher.

Illinois grabbed a 7-0 lead on Joe Krakoski's four yard sweep with 16 seconds left in the first period. Stephens raced over from the nine for the tying touchdown, but Illinois seized a 10-7 halftime lead on Gerry Wood's 33-yard field goal.

Kansas Settles For 13-13 Tie With Oklahoma

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Kansas' Jayhawks steamed from behind in the last quarter but had to settle for a 13-13 football tie with the Oklahoma Sooners when last minute strategy backfired.

The Jayhawks, trailing from Oklahoma's touchdown drive on the opening kickoff, tied the score on a 79-yard drive midway in the fourth period and had a first down on the Oklahoma 2-yard line with 24 seconds left.

Placekick expert John Suder was hustled in and his short place kick shot straight into the air. It ended Kansas' best bid for a victory over the Sooners since 1946.

The Jayhawks' last touchdown had come on a deep pitchout from quarterback John Hadl to halfback Bert Coan that went nine yards. Kansas elected to go for a tie and Suder's kick was good.

WINS 83RD RUNNING

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Marguerite Vernaut, an Italian thoroughbred, won the 83rd running of the Champion Stakes Saturday.

Jockey Enrique Camici pushed Marguerite Vernaut into the lead at the start of the mile and a quarter test, some 300 yards from the finish. Never Too Late grabbed a narrow lead going into the famous Newmarket Dip. The Italian horse rallied strongly and won by half a length.

Apostle, the English horse entered for the International race at Laurel on Nov. 11, was 6 lengths back in third place.

Victory Starved Hoosiers Blast Marquette, 34-8

By JAMES R. POLK

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's victory - starved Hoosiers battered Marquette, 34-8, Saturday behind the relentless running of 160-pound tailback Joe Maroon and a surprise passing attack engineered by Willie Hunter.

Maroon sidestepped Marquette's defenders all afternoon for 139 yards in 16 tries, two touchdowns, and a rushing average of 9.3 yards per carry, but it was Hunter who provided the initial impetus for the Hoosiers.

The Memphis, Tenn., junior cast in an unexpected starting role, lobbed a 35-yard touchdown pass to end Earl Falson the first time Indiana handled the ball.

Minutes later Hunter tossed 26 yards to Nate Ramsey and then Falson leaped between two defenders to haul down another 40-yard aerial. Sophomore fullback Jack Holder bowled over from the 5 for the score.

Hunter was relegated to his normal defensive chores the rest of the game but Maroon struck back in the second quarter, weaving 24 yards for a 20-0 halftime lead.

The tiny tailback pushed over again from the 1 in the third quarter behind 235-pound tackle Moses Gray and the 230-pound Falson. Second-string guard John Giangiacomo capped off Indiana's scoring by churning 65 yards with a pass interception in the final period.

Marquette's sole score came with two minutes left in the game when Terry Zang heaved a 55-yard pass to end Karl Kassulke.

The victory was the first in four starts for the Hoosiers. Marquette now has a 3-2 slate.

Waverly Blanks Franklin, 33-0

FRANKLIN — Two touchdowns by Jim Fitzpatrick and two more via the pitching arm of Steve Stults to Jay Dunseth plus a three yard plunge by Lyndell Deatherage carried the Waverly Scotties to a 33-0 victory over Jim Bower's Flashes here Saturday night. It was the fourth win in five starts for Bob Teater's Scotties.

Coach Jim Bower, who is in his third year with the Flashes, watched his team taste their fifth straight loss and extend the losing string to 23 consecutive games. The Flashes have been close on several occasions only to lose by one point and the concensus in the area is that Franklin's young aggregation will start to roll next year.

Fitzpatrick opened the scoring with a seven yard run in the opening canto and then a 20 yard pass from Stults to Dunseth plus a three yard TD by Deatherage gave Waverly a 19-0 first quarter lead.

After a scoreless second quarter the Scotties used the passing combination of Stults to Dunseth for a 30 yard score. The final tally came on a 24 yard run by Fitzpatrick in the fourth quarter. Jay Dunseth accounted for all three extra points with his accurate toe.

Franklin threatened to hit pay dirt several times but every time the Flashes got inside the 10 yard line Waverly's defense tightened up to stymie the drive.

Kewanee, Hillsboro And Mt. Vernon Absorb Defeats

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — First defeats for Kewanee, Mount Vernon and Hillsboro shrouded the Illinois high school football scene downstate Friday.

The outlook was bright for Peoria Manual. Manual not only extended its winning streak to 25 games but stunned Pekin 61-1 while doing so. It was the biggest punch yet from Manual's scoring machine. It has turned out totals of 21, 33, 33, and 50 in its first four efforts.

Kewanee bowed 9-7 to Ottawa in a clash bearing on the title of the northeast division of the North Central Conference. Ottawa now needs decisions over Sterling and DeKalb to make a clear title claim.

Mount Vernon, taking a breather from its South Seven competition, stumbled 13-6 before Fairfield. Centralia rebounded from last week's loss to East St. Louis and cracked out a 35-6 South Seven win over Harrisburg. Benton won again, 20-6, over Herrin in the South Seven.

Hillsboro knuckled under to Taylorville 52-0 in a decisive Mid-State Conference clash. Both had been unbeaten.

Rock Island and East St. Louis improved on their flawless marks as expected. The Rocks smacked Rock Island Alleman 35-12 while East St. Louis dominated Edwardsville 40-7.

Argo survived a test by Thornton of Harvey 6-0 and gripped tighter on the front berth in the South Suburban League.

West Aurora retained its Big Eight leadership role by socking East Rockford 18 - 6. Freeport stayed within striking distance of the leader by halting LaSalle-Peru 14-6.

Mount Carmel's powerhouse was unleashed in the North Egyptian League again, crumbling Salem's defense 32-6. Carbondale, the defending champion in the Southwest Egyptian, slammed Chester 36-0.

Sycamore's Spartans, winners of 21 consecutive games, made Naperville their 22nd victim 18-13. It was the first loss for Naperville this year in the Little Seven.

Mattoon took its second step ahead in the Central Illinois Big 12 by whipping Lincoln 21-13. Springfield, once-tied, plays Champaign tonight in the other league highlight.

Charleston absorbed its first loss 14-12 against Paris in the Eastern Illinois League.

Results for some other unbeaten teams included a 6-6 tie hung on Collinsville by Belleville. Eldorado shut out Norris City 47-0. Jacksonville whipped Jerseyville 21-0. Macomb beat Havana Thursday 30-7. Rock Falls blanked Spring Valley 13-0. Tuscola stopped Unity 12-6. Woodland lost to Marseilles 20-7.

Downstate Prep Notes

By JOHN CAMPBELL

Jerry Helmich returned to the Collinsville lineup Friday night against the strong Belleville team. He was recovered from an injury to his knee and has decided to play his last season of high school football.

Peoria Manual's Rams have lost only two games since the start of the 1956 season and one was to Pekin that year. Peoria Central beat the Manual eleven in final game of the 1957 campaign for the other setback.

Thursday night games found V.I.T. (Table Grove) losing to Hamilton 7-0 via the fumble route as neither team was able to make much headway against the other until the third quarter. Hamilton used a sustained ground attack that brought them within scoring distance and V.I.T. recovered a fumble. Then V.I.T. fumbled and Hamilton regained possession of the ball and Tom Harris scored the touchdown from about two yards out and Bob Fisher scored the extra point by a kick. Farmington bowed to a tough Washington eleven 19-6 for the first loss of the season by the Farmers of Walt Grebe. Cuba scored three touchdowns in the final period to down Valley of Fairview 34-13. Canton's Frosh played unbeaten Kewanee's Frosh to a 0-0 tie at Athletic Park.

Canton high Homecoming Royalty was revealed Thursday as Mary Jo Kovachevich was elected Qucen and Larry McCormick was named the King. Attendants are Dixie Walsh, Larry Ellis, Jo Ellen Rand and Bill Masters. Homecoming activities include a bonfire snake dance, pajama parade and dance Friday night. A parade, chicken barbecue, football game with Monmouth high and alumni homecoming dance Saturday afternoon and evening. The barbecue will begin at 4 p.m. continuing until game time on the Pensinger lot near the Athletic park. The event is being sponsored by the Rotary Club and proceeds will be used for a nursing scholarship to Canton Community College.

Karen Novotny was crowned homecoming queen at Limestone (Peoria) high and the king was Terry Leach who did the crowning.

The attendants were Carleen Hoeth, Barb Lawless, Joline Renner and Sally Parks.

Western high of Macomb snagged number 31 in a row by routing Carthage high 60-7 and Manual of Peoria socked Pekin's Chinks 61-6 to garner their 25th straight win. The Rams are unbeaten in the Mid State Eight conference for the third consecutive year.

Taylorville high school's 13th annual homecoming celebration was observed Friday night with Hillsboro playing the Tornadoes of Coach Jim Lovin. Judy Unser was named the homecoming queen and her attendants were Barbara Hurtle, Mary Ann Rack, Jane Giovagnoli and Connie Waterman.

Missouri Stuns K-State, 45-0

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Missouri's power-running backs shattered hopelessly outmanned Kansas State 45-0 Saturday. It was the second Big Eight conference football victory and fifth straight of the season for the Tigers, ranked sixth nationally.

It took the Tigers 11½ minutes, moving 78 yards, to collect their first touchdown. After that, the Tigers moved at will, hampered only occasionally by penalties or a momentarily determined K-State defensive effort.

Senior halfback Donnie Smith staged an offensive show as he tied a Missouri varsity record of three touchdowns in one game. The 179-pounder from Springfield, Mo., rolled up 86 yards in 16 carries.

Missouri also received touchdowns from Mel West on a 24-yard tnird quarter gallop, a four-yard burst from Jim Mkles and a one-yard plunge by Carl Crawford, both in the fourth quarter.

Deflected Pass In Closing Seconds Lands In Hawkeye's Arms

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Sophomore halfback Sammie Harris made a diving catch in the end zone of Wilburn Hollis' 39-yard pass with 52 seconds left to give Iowa a 28-21 Big Ten football victory over Wisconsin Saturday.

The spectacular finish dulled a Wisconsin comeback in which the Badgers had scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns to tie the favored Hawkeyes 21-21.

Hollis' pass was tipped by Wisconsin defender Billy Hess but Harris lunged for the deflected ball and tucked it in for the victory.

The loss was the first for Wisconsin this season. By winning, Iowa, ranked second in The Associated Press football poll, reigns with Minnesota as the only unbeaten Big Ten teams.

Hollis was the standout, scoring two second-half touchdowns on flashy runs.

The rugged Wisconsin line stopped Iowa's speedy halfbacks, although left half Larry Ferguson sprinted 18 yards in the second period for Iowa's first touchdown.

Hollis, a junior quarterback, shot the Hawks into a 14-7 lead in the third period by crashing over Wisconsin defenders on a 31-yard touchdown run, and seemingly put Iowa out of reach with a nine-yard scoring sprint early in the fourth period.

But the Badgers drove 75 yards to narrow the game to 21-13. Then Gene Mosley fumbled the following kickoff on the Hawks' 19, and Wisconsin's Tom Wiesner recovered.

It took the Badgers only six plays to score with Merritt Norvell diving from the two. Ron Miller pitched a strike to end Pat Richter in the end zone after the touchdown for two extra points which tied the score 21-21 with five minutes left and set up the thrilling finish.

Life In General Uncomfortable For Top Gridders

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State and Clemson toppled, Kansas could do no better than a tie and life in general for the top football teams in the country was uncomfortable Saturday.

Purdue dealt Ohio State, third-ranked team in this week's Associated Press poll, its first defeat, 24-21, but the way the Big Ten race changes complexion from week to week, it probably won't be fatal.

Clemson, No. 8, and the favorite in the Atlantic Coast Conference, fell before thrice-beaten Maryland 19-17, while Kansas — out to unseat perennial champion Oklahoma in the Big Eight — was held to a 13-13 tie by the Sooners. Kansas is ranked No. 9.

Iowa, No. 2; Syracuse, No. 4, and Minnesota, No. 10, all won cliff-hangers to remain unbeaten.

The Hawkeyes, current favorites in the Big Ten scramble, outlasted Wisconsin, 24-21, while Syracuse edged Penn State, 21-15, and Minnesota came from behind to defeat Illinois 21-10.

Navy, No. 5, and Missouri, No. 6, got away with routine victories. The Middies trounced the Air Air Force Academy, 35-3, and Missouri, another pretender to the Big Eight throne, clobbered Kansas State, 45-0.

In other major reversals, Arkansas turned back Texas, a club that had been threatening to break into the top 10, 24-23; Tennessee upended Alabama 20-7, and Auburn stopped Georgia Tech 9-7.

Kelso Splashes Way To Victory At Hawthorne

CHICAGO (AP)— Bohemia Stable's Kelso, ridden brilliantly by Eddie Arcaro, splashed to an easy five-length victory over a muddy track in the $144,150 Hawthorne Gold Cup Saturday.

Scoring his sixth victory of the year, the 3-year-old Kelso took command of the 1¼-mile feature coming out of the final turn and won under wraps over Heroshogala. Third in the nine-horse field was Calumet Farm's On And On.

Kelso, who went off a 2-1 favorite, returned $6.40, $4.40 and $3.40. Heroshogala, owned by Mrs. Mary Keim of Evanston, Ill., paid $7 and $4.60. The show price for On And On was $4.40.

The heavy going was not at all to the liking of the top-weighted Dotted Swiss, carrying 126 pounds, who finished last. Next to last was the highly regarded T.V. Lark.

Kelso was hauling 117 pounds. The time was 2:02, considerably behind the track record of 1:59.

Fourth was Natego, with Santiago fifth, Hymient sixth and Manassa Mauler seventh, ahead of the trailing T.V. Lark and Dotted Swiss.

Top Teams Have Breathers In NFL Tilts Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The top teams have breathers Sunday in the National Football League while the fledgling American League battles for attention with a couple of natural rivalries in the East and Southwest.

In the American League, the Houston Oilers (3-1), Eastern Division leaders, play the Dallas Texans at Houston and the Buffalo Bills are host in Memorial Stadium to the New York Titans, second in the Eastern Division race.

The other AFL games send Boston against Oakland at Oakland and Los Angeles against Denver's Western Division pace-setters at Denver.

The older NFL offers a program in which the rich should get richer and the poor poorer.

The unbeaten New York Giants (3-0), leaders of the Eastern Conference, are a 13-point favorite over the Washington Redskins in their game at New York and the Cleveland Browns, 2-0 in the Eastern race, are two touchdowns over the Dallas Cowboys in Dallas.

There may be a break in the four-team logjam atop the Western Division where Baltimore, Chicago, Green Bay and San Francisco are tied at 2-1.

The champion Baltimore Colts rule a 14-point choice over the Los Angeles Rams at Baltimore. The Chicago Bears are a touchdown choice over the San Francisco 49ers. The Green Bay Packers are the idle team in the 13-club circuit.

In other games, the Philadelphia Eagles, 2-1 in the Eastern Division, are a touchdown pick over the winless Detroit Lions at Philadelphia and the Pittsburgh Steelers are a 7-point choice over the Cardinals at St. Louis.

A LOT IN COMMON

MARION, Ill. (AP) — Dan and Jack Wales have a lot in common.

They're brothers.

Both are football coaches in Williamson County high schools.

And both of their teams played to 6-6 ties Friday night.

Dan coaches the Marion Wildcats and Jack is head man of the Johnston City Indians. The two cities are separated by only six miles of real estate.

In the first meeting between rival teams coached by the brothers, the game ended in the tie.

Dan maintains he won a moral victory. Jack's Johnston City team was a six-point favorite.

Army's unbeaten football team of 1944 scored 504 points while holding nine rivals to 35 points.

GARY SPANGENBERG, senior sparkplug of the Crimsons, is shown crossing Jerseyville's goal line on a four-yard run for JHS' first tally in the third quarter to break a 0-0 deadlock. The Crimsons went on to victory, 21-0, their fifth straight this year and their sixth consecutive over a two-season span.

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Del Rutz passed for two touchdowns and carried the ball for a third to lead Millikin University to a 38-14 victory over Augustana Saturday.

The victory was Millikin's first this season in the College Conference of Illinois and its fourth consecutive win.

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — St. Olaf took undisputed possession of first place in the Midwest Conference football race Saturday with a 28-22 victory over Knox.

The triumph was the fourth without defeat for St. Olaf in conference competition. The visitors piled up a 21-0 halftime lead and then fought off a second half comeback by Knox.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The team of brother halfbacks, Paul and Karl Toth, helped power Western Michigan to a 43-0 victory over Washington University Saturday before some 6,000 fans in an intermittent drizzle.

The Bears were beaten 73-0 by the Broncos at Kalamazoo last year and the series will not be renewed because Washington feels it is not in Western's class.

Paul Toth, a six-foot 200-pound junior, scored two TDs and gained 113 yards on 9 carries. One of his scores was on a 69-yard run in the third. His sophomore brother, Karl, added 55 more yards on 7 carries.

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — Coe College capitalized on a Monmouth player injury Saturday to stun the host on Homecoming Day 30-6 in a Midwest Conference clash.

Monmouth held a 3-point edge throughout the first half, but its offense collapsed in the second half when starting quarterback Paul Moye was benched for an injury. Coe scored three touchdowns in the final quarter.

It was Monmouth's first loss in four conference starts and Coe's second win for four.

CHARLESTON, Ill. (AP)— Southern Illinois, the nation's eighth ranked small college football team, smothered Eastern Illinois 52-8 Saturday in an Interstate Intercollegiate Conference game.

The victory was the fifth straight for the unbeaten Salukis. Amos Bullocks led the victors with two touchdowns and four extra points.

Eastern took an 8-0 lead when Homer Butler plunged over from the 1-yard line in the first period and then spurted to a 24-8 halftime lead.

LISLE, Ill. (AP)—A 34-yard pass and a 25-yard run gave St. Procopius a 14-0 homecoming football victory over Northwestern College of Watertown, Wis.

Don Jacklich passed to Benny Klenda for a touchdown in the second period. Jacklich passed to Ron Laboda for the extra points. In the third period, Pat Power sprinted 25 yards for the other touchdown.

It was St. Procopius' second victory against one tie and a loss.

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A bobbled pass for two points after a Bradley touchdown proved the deciding margin as the Braves lost their homecoming tilt to Wheaton College, 24-22.

A third quarter scoring play brought Bradley to within two points of Wheaton. On the extra point try, quarterback Dean Mefford threw to junior halfback J. D. Williams. He juggled the ball on his fingertips but dropped it in the end zone.

Each side went on to score again and both scored two-point conversions to make the final score. Wheaton's hard-running fullback, Bill Ladd, from Altadena, Calif., plunged to 117 yards in 17 attempts to lead the ground attack. Ladd scored two touchdowns and ran two critical extra point tries for a day's total of 16 points.

Syracuse Gains 21-15 Win On Interception

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Hobble-kneed Mark Weber, relegated to a defensive role because of injuries, intercepted a desperate Penn State pass in the third quarter Saturday and raced 66 yards for a touchdown that led fourth-ranked Syracuse to a 21-15 victory.

Weber, a senior halfback from Solon, Ohio, missed two games this season because of the knee troubles that kept him out of action most of last year. His one big defensive play Saturday was the payoff in an exciting game of mingled long-gaining plays and tough defense.

Each team scored one more touchdown, but it was Weber's run that broke open the game. Penn State's Galen Hall, harassed by end Fred Mautino on his pass attempt, dodged three tacklers before he let fly his abortive pass. Weber grabbed it on the Syracuse 40, got an important block from Norm Lemieux and was home free for the score.

Bellino Leads Navy To Triumph Over Air Force

BALTIMORE (AP)—Navy's Joe Bellino whirled to three first half touchdowns while quarterback Hal Spooner completely stole the passing thunder of the Air Force for a 35-3 Navy football victory Saturday.

Bellino, matching the three touchdowns he scored against Army last year, broke the undefeated Middies' first game with the Air Force wide open before the intermission.

The stumpy senior from Winchester, Mass., plunged for a touchdown after Air Force scored on a 32-yard field goal by Mike Rawlins.

Bellino then faked, pivoted and bulled his way 15 yards over the goal and two minutes later caught a 25-yard pass from Spooner to nail down Navy's fifth straight victory.

BEARS AND 49ERS TRY TO DISSOLVE DIFFERENCES

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears and the San Francisco 49ers will try to dissolve their differences Sunday before a sell-out crowd of some 47,000.

The two teams have identical 2-1 records and are currently tied with Green Bay and Baltimore for first place in the Western Division of the National Football League.

The Bears have been established one touchdown favorites mainly because they will be playing on their home field. The weatherman predicts clear skies and a fast field.

Chicago will be without the services of halfback Willie Galimore who was injured in last Sunday's 34-27 victory over Los Angeles. Johnny Morris and Rookie Charlie Bivins will fill in.

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — Lake Forest scored twice in the third period Saturday to tie Carroll 13-13 in a College Conference of Illinois football game.

Carroll got a lead in the first period on John Davis' 12-yard pass to Bruce Palmer and followed in the second quarter on Ken Hill's 38 yard touchdown run.

The Foresters came back as Larry McLain passed 12 yards to Tom Lewis for a touchdown and Glenn Walters scored on a five yard run.

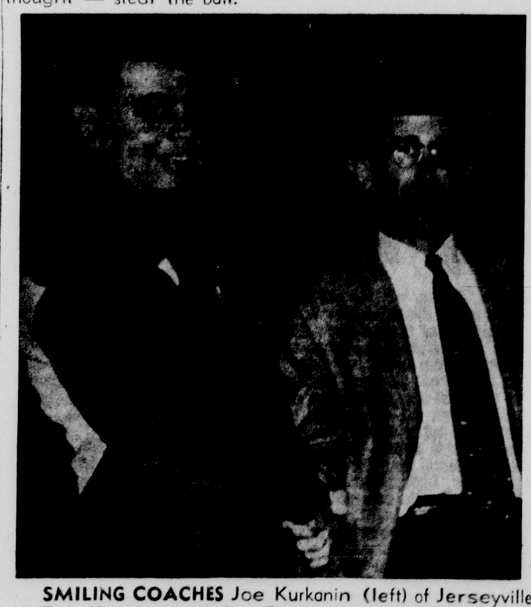
C'MON TOMHAVE! STOP may be what this Jerseyville Panther has in mind after Ron had covered 44 yards on a pass from Spangenberg in the third quarter to get the first TD drive into operation. The Panther also has another thought — steal the ball.



SMILING COACHES Joe Kurkanin (left) of Jerseyville and Bob Kraushaar of the Crimsons greeted each other prior to Friday's homecoming tussle but the smiles quickly vanished after the opening kickoff. The win was Kraushaar's 97th against 43 losses and six ties in 17 years with JHS while the loss was number 15 for Jurkanin to go with 58 wins and four ties in nine seasons with the Panthers.

Maryland Upsets Clemson, 19-17

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Quarterback Dale Betty ignited a second half rally by Maryland and passed the underdog Terps to a 19-17 upset over eight-ranked Clemson Saturday.

The senior from Butler, Pa., connected on eight consecutive passes in the final two periods as the Terps defeated defending Atlantic Coast Conference champions for the second straight year. He threw two touchdown passes and set up the other score with another aerial.

Clemson, winner of ACC titles in three of the last four years, had run up a six-game winning streak since losing to Maryland last year 28-25.

Boilermakers Shock 3rd Ranked Buckeyes To The Tune Of 24—21

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's productive Bernie Allen kicked a 32-yard field goal and three extra points, passed brilliantly and ran the clutch yardage Saturday in a 24-21 upset of previously unbeaten Ohio State, the nation's No. 3 ranking team.

Willie Jones, senior Purdue fullback, scored two touchdowns on short plunges, then got the third quarter clincher on a 26-yard sprint. He had never before made a collegiate touchdown. Ohio State had given up only one touchdown altogether in three previous games but was smacked with two Purdue TD's before it could score.

Both teams played magnificent defensive ball in the scoreless final period. Purdue drove to the Ohio State 15 but was thrown back by two penalties and the stout Buck defense. Ohio State took over on the 15 and was held for downs on its 31.

Purdue, beaten 24-13 at Wisconsin last week, outfought Ohio State in the line. Sophomore end Fores Farmer was especially outstanding in stopping Ohio State's last series. He hauled down Mattie three times for losses in a six-play series, almost nullifying three short passes the Ohio State quarterback completed to Charles Bryant and Bill Wentz.

Willie Jones outdid Ohio State's Ferguson. The Purdue fullback picked up 72 yards in 11 carries, Ferguson 70 yards in 19 rushes.

Allen threw only six passes, completing five for 85 yards. Mattie hit on eight of 13 for 145 yards.

End Sam Tidmore played an outstanding defensive game for Ohio State and caught one short pass. Ohio State's second scoring drive, the one that produced the 14-14 halftime knot, started when Tidmore recovered Dave Miller's fumble on the Ohio State 45.

Purdue has not been defeated in its last 12 games at home. Ohio State ran into the Lafayette jinx in its first appearance here since 1954. The Buckeyes still lead their series with the Boilermakers, 13-6, with two ties.

Western Wallops Northern Ill. 30—19

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — Western Illinois bounced back from a prestige jolt last week to conquer Northern Illinois 30-19 Saturday before an estimated 10,000 homecoming fans.

The victory gave the 1958-59 champions their second Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference triumph this season. Last week, Southern Illinois broke their 16-game winning streak with a 21-12 rout.

Speedy halfback Leroy Jackson scored three touchdowns for the victors. Northern, which also bowed to Southern earlier in the season, suffered its second conference loss.

Spartans Hand Irish 3rd Straight Loss, 27-0

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Senior quarterback Tom Wilson passed for two touchdowns and IKE Grimsley, who calls defensive signals, scored on a 35-yard runback of an interception as Michigan State Saturday handed Notre Dame its third straight football defeat, 21-0.

The victory, before a sellout crowd of 59,133, was the fifth in a row over the Irish by the Duffy Daugherty-coached Spartans. It marked the first time in 72 years of Notre Dame football that the same coach defeated the Irish five successive times.

MSU scored twice in the second quarter for a 14-0 halftime lead and added another touchdown midway in the fourth. The Irish, who have a 1-3 season mark, never moved closer than 22 yards to the MSU goal, twice getting that far.

But Notre Dame, a 13-point underdog, was fired for an upset. Tempers exploded in the last five seconds as Oscar Hahn, 210-pound senior Michigan State guard, and Notre Dame captain, guard Myron Pottios, let fists fly at each other.

Coaches and players broke it up. Just as the game ended, both teams were at each others throats in a wild melee in the middle of the field.

Several police with billy clubs went to the rescue but the scrap broke up without their help and the players finally left for the showers.

Grimsley, a senior end an outside linebacker, scored the first touchdown of his career by stealing sophomore Norb Rascher's pass in the second period. Art Brandstatter place-kicked the first of his three extra points.

Minutes later Wilson hit junior halfback Don Stewart on a screen pass that was good for a 52-yard touchdown. In the fourth quarter, Wilson passed 23 yards to Herb Adderley for another.

Fumbling Wolverines Best N'Western, 14-7

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Fumble-stricken Michigan defeated Northwestern Saturday 14-7, helped by a desperation pass that took a crazy bounce off the arms of two defenders into the hands of end Bob Johnson.

That fourth quarter play gained 48 yards for the Wolverines and gave them a first down at Northwestern's 1-foot line. Two plays later, fullback Bill Tunnicliff barreled into the end zone for the touchdown that kept Michigan's faint Big Ten title hopes glimmering.

Michigan, although it outplayed the underdog Wildcats most of the way, frittered away one opportunity after another with fumbles and interceptions. Michigan trailed 7-6 before Tunnicliff's winning touchdown.

Quarterback Dave Glinka was on the throwing end of the wild completion. Johnson was surrounded by three Northwestern defenders at the 16-yard line. The ball took a high bounce off the arms of Larry Wood and Larry Benz, and Johnson plucked it out of the air and was tripped up just short of the goal.

There were 9½ minutes to play in the game and Northwestern had another opportunity for a tie or possible victory. The Wildcats recovered a Michigan fumble at the Wolverine 31 but Dic Thornton's desperation passing game was thwarted by onrushing Michigan linemen.

A Glinka to Johnson pass produced Michigan's other score. It was a fourth down pass in the second period and covered 35 yards. Johnson slipped behind halfback Ray Purdin and caught the ball at Northwestern's 3. It was Glinka's first completed pass after eight fruitless attempts.

Northwestern seized the lead early in the fourth period after recovering a Michigan fumble at the Wolverine 27. Al Kimbrough scored on a 19-yard run and Mike Stock's perfect placement looked like the margin of victory until the frantic completion that led to Michigan's winning score.

Michigan fumbled four times and lost the ball twice, and the Wildcats picked off three of Glinka's passes.

The stout Michigan defense spurned Northwestern's first threat at the five-yard line. The Wildcats started from the Michigan 36 after Wood's interception, had a first and goal situation at the 7.

Northwestern, blanked in its last two games, averted a third straight shutout when center Dick Nichols recovered Dave Rainey's fumble of a punt at the Michigan 27. Four plays later Thornton pitched out to Kimbrough, who raced 19 yards for the score.

But only six plays later the crazy bounce pass put Michigan in command again. The Wolverines covered 75 yards in seven plays.

Until Johnson caught Glinka's touchdown pass near the end of the second period the game was as dull as the gray October skies. The Wildcats were so impotent they made only one first down in the first half and that came on a penalty.

Indianapolis Family Makes Memorial Gift To MacMurray

A gift to MacMurray College of an estimated value in excess of $100,000 for the development of science facilities was announced Saturday by MacMurray's new president, Dr. Gordon A. Michalson at the annual Fall meeting of the Board of Trustees held at Harker House.

The gift is being made by Mrs. Horace A. Shonle of Indianapolis, Indiana, and her two sons, Horace A. Shonle, Jr., and Dr. John Irwin Shonle, in memory of the late Horace A. Shonle, a noted scientist who was associated with the Eli Lilly Company.

250 Apply To Vote By Absentee Ballot; Many From Overseas

Two hundred and fifty applications for absentee voters' ballots on file at the county clerk's office yesterday were an indication that Morgan county citizens are eager to cast their ballots in the election Tuesday, Nov. 8 — and some have already voted.

Voting booths have been put to use at the office of County Clerk Louise Coop, where absentee voters go to make application and to mark their ballots, if they are in the county. But 150 military personnel are doing their voting by air mail, and other Morgan county men and women stationed throughout the world will do the same before the final date.

The 250 applications by absentees is one of the largest advance lists in history. The number may jump to 500 by the week before election.

The last day to make application for absentee ballots by mail is Nov. 3, and Nov. 5 in person.

A large number of incapitated persons vote under that provision in the election law.

Ballots have been sent to military personnel in dozens of bases throughout the world. A number of these have already been returned, ready ofr casting in the election.

A change in the order of business, as adopted by the executive board and which will be followed during the season, was explained by Mrs. Reed pertaining to reversal of business and program material. The change was made in deference to convenience of guest speakers and musicians.

Editorial Comment

Outstanding Candidates For Congress

The voters of this state and congressional district have an opportunity to send to Washington two men of especially outstanding ability to represent them in the Congress of the United States, Witwer in the Senate and Findley in the House.

Last spring we endorsed the candidacy of Samuel W. Witwer and referred to him as a "top notch" candidate. Since his victory in the primary Witwer has waged a vigorous campaign to unseat the Democratic incumbent, Paul Douglas. We believe that he has largely dispelled the "Douglas myth," pointing out forcefully to the people how ineffectual Douglas has been in recent years.

Witwer has received unqualified editorial endorsement from all of the large Chicago newspapers and from many downstate papers. He is progressive in his thinking though not a believer in massive programs of governmental spending.

Paul Findley, former Jacksonville man and now publisher of the Pike County Republican in Pittsfield, like Witwer, has been conducting a strenuous campaign. He has indicated, time and again, his opposition to policies and proposals which would tend to bring about runaway inflation, to use his words, "the cruelest tax of all."

If elected, Findley can be counted upon to represent the 20th Congressional District in the effective way Sid Simpson and Mrs. Simpson did. Local problems will never be neglected by his office.

Both Witwer and Findley are both comparatively young men, endowed with the intelligence necessary to serve with distinction on the national scene.

While both men are running on the Republican ticket, they are deserving of the support of every citizen who believes in a sound America.

The Great TV Debates

Never before in the history of the country have millions of voters had the opportunity of hearing and observing two formidable candidates for the presidency debate face to face the issues of the campaign.

The TV debates, sponsored by all of the major networks, may not prove a decisive factor in the final outcome but undoubtedly will greatly affect all future campaigns and the selection of candidates.

There are those who deplore these television appearances, saying that they tend to place too much emphasis upon the glamour or personal appearance of the contestants. On the whole, however, we believe that the debates are very worthwhile.

Both Kennedy and Nixon have held up well under the very considerable strain of these encounters. Nixon, in the first debate, got off to a rather poor start. He looked haggard and tired. But in the last two debates he has made a strong comeback, frequently forcing Kennedy to the defensive.

The vast store of administrative experience which Nixon has behind him has become increasingly apparent. He has played an important role in the Eisenhower administration, and while not content simply to stand on the record, he nevertheless is ready to defend it against unwarranted attacks.

Kennedy, being the challenger, has the easier position. It is never difficult to criticize and make promises. Nixon, however, steadily pounds away at the tremendous costs which the Democratic programs of massive federal spending would entail in increased taxes and loss of freedom.

In the final analysis we believe that the American people will decide the presidential contest on the basis of the fundamental issues. If this is the case the winner should be Richard M. Nixon, because his program is far superior to that of Senator Kennedy.

Golf Star's Parents Let Others Play Through to Ike

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— With World Golf Tournament players on their visit with President Eisenhower were Washington executive Del Beman and his wife. Their son Deane was a member of the winning U. S. team, and they wanted to be on hand when he was presented to Ike.

When the golfers lined up for their entrance, everybody was perplexed over where to place Mr. and Mrs. Beman. Finally a National Golf Assn. representative decided they should stand between the U. S. team and the Australian runners-up.

"We'll do no such thing," Mrs. Beman declared. "Our contribution to this ceremony was made 22 years ago. We belong at the end of the line."

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Who cut the "tightrope"?

A lot of TV viewers have been asking that ever since the show faded from CBS a fortnight ago. It was dropped after one season despite good ratings and an unusually loyal following. One fan was so loyal that he picketed the network's Hollywood studios in protest.

"CBS has been flooded with letters and so have I," reported Mike Connors, who starred in the series. "One woman floored me by writing a 140-page letter.

"What happened to 'Tightrope'? Well, it was a combination of circumstances. The sponsor was happy with the show, but CBS wanted to rearrange Tuesday night as part of its block programming plan. Everything on that night was to be comedies.

"The sponsor had had that time slot for several years and wanted to hold onto it. CBS wouldn't give in. By the time the argument was over, it was too late to line up a co-sponsor to put the show on another night. So we got dropped."

The loss was a blow to Connors, who finally made it to the big time after years of trying. A Fresno, Calif., boy, born Jay Michael Ohanian, he gave up law studies at UCLA because he ha to act. For a long time, the move seemed like folly.

"Tightrope" proved a perfect vehicle for him. As undercover agent, he had to play on the wrong side of the law during the show. Thus he could play the heavy while being the hero.

Though the series has folded, Connors isn't morose. It has been snapped up for syndication in 24 markets, yielding him a good bit of change. He has had offers for two films and several series but is holding off. Russell Rouse and Clarence Greene, who created "Tightrope," are whipping up a new series for him. It's an adventure that takes place on the Riviera, and they'll shoot a pilot over there soon.

The Wedding Band Fever Bowling Over the Young

"There are only two of our old crowd who aren't married and we are beginning to feel like old maids."

How old was the girl who made that statement? Exactly 20 years old—and already beginning to feel forsaken.

Some of her crowd had married before they ever received a high school diploma. Several married the summer after they finished high school. And the rest—all but one other—had caught a husband in the first year of college.

Just two left—two old maids of 20. It's a safe bet they'll do their best to tie a young man down during the coming year, so they won't have to reach 21 unmarried.

For that is the trend of the times. Catch a husband early so you won't have to worry about getting left.

Never mind whether you or he have finished your education. Never mind whether he will be able to support you. Don't worry about what your future is going to be like if you limit your husband's earning capacity by putting his nose to the grindstone when he should be preparing himself to earn a living instead of having to earn one in any way he can.

Girls today are about as shortsighted as they have ever been. They are so eager for the security of marriage that they aren't the least bit concerned with the future.

They aren't willing to wait for that engagement ring and wedding band. In the rush not to be left the last of "the crowd" to be married, some of them aren't even choosy. They'll settle for just about any young man who can be led to the altar.

What today's teen-age girls need is to have a little more faith in themselves, to have a little more ambition, to have a more venturesome spirit, not to be so eager for the security of a wedding band right now that they are too easy to please.

But try to tell them this and see how far you get.

You can't make them believe that the chances of a girl's getting a good husband and having a happy marriage are far better if she gives herself and her future husband time to grow up before they take on the responsibilities of marriage.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — After three "great debates" on TV the tactics — or the techniques — of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy begin to show through.

Nixon is a generalizer who makes frequent use of that old-time debating tactic: the big needle. When he thinks he has a good thing going, he won't let go. He gets sentimental and, like a name-dropper, identifies himself with President Eisenhower.

Kennedy, who evidently does his homework, is much more specific and detailed than Nixon, but lets himself lose a lot of time trying to extract the Nixon needle. Recently he became quite a needler himself.

For example: As TV watchers could see for themselves he had gotten under Nixon's skin by an earlier remark calling him "trigger-happy."

But Kennedy talks too fast, throwing out facts, names and dates as if he assumed all the millions of TV viewers were as familiar with these things as he himself is. And he seems to lack a dramatic sense.

Before the campaign ever got under way Nixon told newsmen he'd go heavy on generalizations, light on details. He has followed that course. For instance, Thursday night, instead of going into detail on defense plans, he said he would make a major speech about it.

Nixon uses the needle various ways: By accusing Kennedy of reversing himself, talking one way now and another before; of wanting to spend too much; of getting facts mixed.

Earlier this week newsmen with Nixon reported he thought he had hit on an issue in his dispute with Kennedy over what position the next president should take on Quemoy and Matsu, two small islands close to the Red Chinese coast.

Chiang Kai-shek, an American ally on Formosa, 110 miles away from the coast and almost that far from the islands, claims Quemoy and Matsu as his. The Reds also claim them.

This country has a treaty with Chiang to defend Formosa in case of attack. But it is not pledged to defend the offshore islands. The Eisenhower administration has never gone beyond saying the islands would be defended — if they were considered essential to the defense of Formosa.

Kennedy says the islands are not necessary to Formosa's defense and not worth getting into war about. Nixon says they shouldn't be turned over to the Red Chinese.

Why? Because, Nixon says, it is a matter of "principle" not to yield them, that surrendering them ahead of an attack would be appeasement. Still, he hasn't said what he'd do if they were attacked. And Kennedy says he wouldn't surrender them at the point of a gun.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—In the women's lounge off the lobby of a Des Moines hotel stands a perfume-dispensing machine, which, for a dime, will spray any one of four popular scents.

The other day the machine went on the blink and up went a sign saying: "Out of order."

An unidentified girl had a better idea. With lipstick she scratched out the words and revised them to say: "Out of odor."

matter of FACT

Historically speaking, our next president will be an exception to the rule. Whether it's Nixon or Kennedy, he's going to be much younger than average. The average age for a president at inauguration is 55. Only six of the 33 presidents took office in their forties. Teddy Roosevelt was the youngest, a "lad" of 42.

Doctors, Heed Inner Voice Of Your Elderly Patients

BY MARIE DAERR

Sometimss an older patient knows better than his doctor, when the question of surgery comes up.

So believes an English physician, Dr. J. H. Sheldon.

"If the doctor is a young one, there are things about old age he just doesn't know," said Dr. Sheldon.

● "His older patient has an inner knowledge about himself that the doctor doesn't have.

● "The patient may know better than the doctor whether he could stand an anesthetic. He may know better than the doctor just how strong is his hold on life.

"Sometimes an older patient may object strongly to an operation, just asking to be let alone. Maybe that is the wiser course. Certainly, it is likely to be so if the older patient has a terrible fear of surgery."

Dr. Sheldon's advice to doctors who treat older patients is to "marry zeal with common sense" and to treat every patient as an individual.

Older doctors not only have an advantage over their younger colleagues when it comes to treating the older patient. They also have a responsibility to them.

"They can tell a 35-year-old doctor what it is like to be 60 or 70," Dr. Sheldon said. "This is a knowledge the younger doctor can't get from textbooks."

A SWEET BRIAR COLLEGE faculty member, Miss Belle Bonne Beard, terms the increasing number of adults who have never married "a new population phenomenon."

"The number is greater among women than among men," she said. "In the United States and most European countries the bachelor and old maid between 40 and 60 show extraordinary staying power.

"The old maid after 80 is practically indestructible. Single women have shown a gradual increase in survival power during the last 30 or 40 years, single men within the last 20."

Miss Beard based her research on census figures from 12 countries and on personal interviews with people age 65 to 110.

She claims that married people living with wife or husband have a lower mortality rate than do people who are single, widowed or divorced.

"But, when the married lose their spouse through death or other reason, they lose this longevity advantage," she said. "For women, widowhood is the giant killer."

FINDING THE WAY

Tin God, or Good Example?

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Written For NEA

A few men were talking about a certain friend. One of them said, "The trouble with him is that he's begun to believe all of his own publicity. He's impossible except as a bad example."

The comment suggests the words of Peter to his friends, "We are not to be tin gods, but examples of Christian living in the eyes of the flock committed to our care."

The difference between the imperfect men who have their eyes on what they were meant to be and the pompous tin gods is that the latter have a cockeyed cocksureness which destroys great values. It's the men who know they are imperfect, who yet bring the influence of godliness into the community, who lift the meaning of men.

A reviewer for a contemporary book recently suggested that it would be easy enough to ask people what they are against and get some answers. Men are against communism, or corruption in civic life, or higher taxes, or some other item of public interest.

But ask a man what he's FOR, and he's hesitant. He is liable to stammer and stutter as though he's unsure of himself.

Either our society will have people organized by greater loyalties, willing to stand for something, or the community will break into a collision of petty tin gods. So the prayer of the late Peter Marshall has sense:

"Help us to stand for something, lest we fall for anything." This is more than screwing up our courage. It is our awareness of strength and power beyond ourselves that link us with the needs of the moment.

This influence is not dependent upon social prestige or physical size or arrogance. The story of civilization is the record of those who were willing to stand for something, men and women who had the ability to recognize the right moment for the right word and the right act waking up the moral will of mankind.

For example, the emergence from feudalism and slavery is the record of an idea come to itself. Then each individual be comes responsible and no man can think himself slave. Look what that does with the little tin gods.

There's much pompous strutting on history's stage and there's more willingness to stand for nothing.

It's time for all who love freedom to remember: "We are not to be tin gods but examples."

Coffee Break's Fine, But It Can't Replace Breakfast

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Written For NEA

More than 70 per cent of all factory, office and store workers are permitted or encouraged by their employers to take from 10 to 15 minutes every morning for a coffee break.

This coffee break is said to benefit increased production, a reduction of accidents, ability to pay better attention to technical operations, greater efficiency and reduction of fatigue.

Dr. W. W. Tuttle and Edward Herbert, both of the department of physiology College of Medicine, State University of Iowa, are the dashers of cold water on the effectiveness of our all-American coffee break. For six weeks, they experimented on 20 employes, between ages of 18 and 35, consisting of 5 office clerks, 3 workers from the manufacturing line, 3 executives, 1 draftsman, 2 safety engineers, 3 secretaries, 1 laboratory assistant and 2 nurses.

As reported in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, scientists Tuttle and Herbert found that all subjects did significantly more work when an adequate breakfast was eaten than when it was omitted. Also, that the addition of a midmorning coffee break when an adequate breakfast was eaten resulted in no advantage as far as maximum work output was concerned.

A simple basic breakfast used in the experiment consisted of fruit or fruit juice, hot or ready-to-eat cereal, bread, milk, plus beverage. Items available in morning break included coffee, hot chocolate, milk, soft drinks, rolls, cookies and doughnuts. The common selection was coffee and rolls.

Okay, so we'll eat a good breakfast from now on. But let's have our coffee break, too, even though it doesn't increase our output. How else can we keep up with office gossip? Further-more, motivation experts say the coffee break can be a tool for good employer-employe relations.

On the same subject, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that frozen French toast has been developed by New York State (Cornell) Experiment Station. This "instant" product to improve breakfast was tried out in three supermarkets in Ithaca and 5,000 boxes were sold in 12 weeks. Each slice of toast includes a half egg.

MONDAY'S DINNER: Creamed chip beef on French toast, potato chips, canned peas, enriched bread, butter or margarine, raw carrot sticks, celery, apple pie, cheese coffee, tea, milk.

A program liberally sprinkled with research reports and experiences of sheep producers sums up the University of Illinois Sheep Day scheduled for Oct. 28.

The program gets under way at 9 a.m. CDT with various demonstrations and exhibits at the sheep farm, south of Memorial Stadium.

At 10 a.m. the program shifts to the stock pavilion, where U. of I. staff members will report the following research studies: (1) Nitrate poisoning in sheep. (2) Do high-roughage fattening rations cause soft carcasses? (3) Identifying carcass quality. (4) Sire comparisons for market lamb production. (5) What's in a sheep's head? (6) Self-feeding bred and lactating ewes. (7) Wool pools—how and why? (8) 1960 results of the sheep production project.

After lunch, Nolan Nelson, sheep producer from Morris, will discuss "Commercial and Purebred Ewes on My Farm." William Heggemeier, Kirkland, will report on purebred and feeder sheep he uses in his farm operation.

Kenneth McMillan, a U. of I. freshman from Prairie City, will tell how he earned his college money by raising sheep. U. S. Garrigus, head of the sheep division, will report on "Sheep Breeding Research and the Future."

L. L. Felts, University of Wisconsin, will wrap up the program with a talk on "Breeding for Productivity."

A University of Illinois veterinarian says most of the suggested mass of uses of tranquilizers in beef cattle are of little or no benefit, and on occasion they may even be harmful.

Hog Cholera Can Be Prevented-- But Not Cured

"Many Illinois farmers have been disregarding the dictates of good management practices by trying to get by without vaccinating for hog cholera," M. R. "Swede" Johnson, general manager of the Illinois Farm Bureau Association, said today.

"This is reflected in reports from all over the state concerning outbreaks of cholera," he continued. "Many of these farmers have experienced severe financial loss due to the failure to vaccinate hogs against this most costly and fatal disease."

Hog colera costs U.S. hog raisers more than $50 million annually. The death rate in hog colera outbreaks is high—from 90 to 95 per cent—and usually the few survivors are stunted for life.

"Hog cholera symptoms differ on different farms," Johnson said. "Watch for 'slow' hogs with an indifferent appetite. Temperatures will quickly jump to 105 to 107 degrees and remain there for several days. Then it will gradually drop. The hogs may be weak, depressed and thirsty.

"They may appear to be cold and shivery and resent being disturbed. Convulsions, twitching, stuck eyelids, coughing and a reddish discoloration of the belly are other symptoms."

Cholera must be prevented before it strikes — there is no cure! Vaccination is the only sure preventive, Johnson warned.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

Cattle Numbers Foretell Adjustment

Prices for fat cattle seem likely to average $1.50 to $2.00 a hundred pounds lower in 1961 than in 1960. Here is why:

Farmers and ranchers have been building up their herds for three years. They started three years ago with 93.3 million head. They added 3 million the first year, 5 million the second, and are adding about 3 million again this year.

Slaughter began to increase in November of last year and has since been running about 7 per cent higher than a year before.

Largely as a result of this increased slaughter of cattle, prices for choice steers have averaged about $2.00 a hundred pounds lower in 1960 than they did in 1959.

Larger Slaughter Expected

But the slaughter of cattle and calves still has not caught up with production on ranches and farms. We are adding another 3 million head to herds this year. Cattle numbers are catching up with their feed supply. Besides that, the decline in cattle prices makes the business less attractive as a maker of profits. So we look for a smaller increase in cattle numbers next year, and a greater sale of cattle for slaughter.

Commercial slaughter of cattle and calves could increase 10 per cent in 1961 and yet not cut cattle numbers. We expect the increase to be less than 10 per cent, probably around 5 or 6 per cent. That could take $1.50 to $2.00 a hundred pounds off the average price for the year.

Farmers in eight corn-belt states bought 14 per cent fewer feeder cattle during the first eight months of this year than they did in 1959. This suggests that market supplies of fed cattle will not be excessive this winter. At the same time, supplies of pork will be skimpy. This could add up to some fairly good prices for fed cattle during the snowy months.

Price Pattern Changes

For many years we could count on better than average prices for fat cattle in the late summer and early fall. Consequently, many farmers adopted cattle-feeding programs that put fat cattle on the market from August through November or December.

This program seems to have been overdone a bit in the past three years. Consequently, prices of fed cattle have been relatively low in the fall—and highest around February and March.

We do not expect the top prices to be made in these months every year. On the other hand, it is difficult to figure how prices could be higher in the last half of 1961 than they will be in the first half of the year.

Farmers who buy their feeder cattle at prices in line with the expected lower prices for fat cattle have a good chance to make a normal profit.

Expect 100,000 At Corn Picking Meet This Year

The number one man of the Senate and number two on the Democratic national ticket, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, will be the featured speaker at the 1960 National Mechanical Corn Picking contest to be held Oct. 20 and 21st near Chillicothe, Mo.

Ralph Myer, general chairman of the event, announces Johnson will make an address at the contest site on Oct. 21.

Senator Johnson will speak to a farm crowd expected to exceed 100,000 persons gathered on the Ted Vanlandingham farm, located five miles east of chillicothe along U.S. Highway 36.

Missouri Attorney General John M. Dalton, Democratic candidate for governor of Missouri, will introduce the campaigning majority leader to the crowd gathered in the north-central Missouri farming area.

Prior to Senator Johnson's speech, which is scheduled for 3 p.m. (CST), the Fort Scott Air Force band from Belvedere, Illinois, will entertain the crowd around the big stage with a concert. The concert will begin at 2:30 p.m.

CONSERVATIONISTS PLAN AREA MEETING

The 7th annual meeting of the Northern Illinois chapter, Soil Conservation Society of America, will be held Thursday, Oct. 27, at the First Methodist church in Lincoln. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The evening banquet speaker will be Dr. Cecil Wadleigh, of the U. S. D. A. agricultural research service.

In recent University of Illinois tests, both rolled and ground high-moisture corn produced faster and more efficient gains than shelled corn.

Yield Of Illinois Trees Far Below Par - Culver

URBANA—President Eisenhower has proclaimed the week of October 16-22 as National Forest Products Week.

The week was set aside to point out the contribution our woodlands make to the national economy and to emphasize the scientific handling of our timber resources for the benefit of people throughout the country.

Illinois farmers can benefit from understanding the ideas and conditions behind National Forest Products Week, according to L. B. Culver, University of Illinois extension forester.

Culver points out that, although Illinois has long been a leader in grain and meat production, forest products in the state are paying off at less than one-third of their potential.

He says that 2½ million acres of non-forested land in the state would be better suited to growing timber crops than to their present use.

Less Than Half

In addition, almost four million acres of poorly stocked Illinois woodlands are growing at less than half of their capacity.

Most areas too poor to support other crops will produce good pine plantations. There is a good market for these trees, since Illinois imports almost 100 per cent of the pines and other softwoods it uses.

Culver believes that farm woodlands can and should pay their share of taxes and fixed expenses.

Time To Seek Help

He points out that National Forest Products Week would be a good time for farmers who have forested areas on their farms to contact their farm adviser or district farm forester for help in woodland management and marketing.

With a little care, Illinois farmers can turn their woodlands into the asset they can and should be.

Pike Shorthorn Breeders Plan Auction Oct. 29

Pike county Shorthorn breeders will stage their annual show and sale at the Bowling Green, Mo., fairgrounds, Saturday, Oct. 29. A strong quality offering will consist of 14 bulls, 30 female lots and five club calves. Auctioneer for the sale which starts at 12:30 p.m., will be Pete Swaffer, Tulsa, Okla.

Each year Pike breeders bring in an outstanding judge to place their cattle. Last year the judge came from Scotland. This year it will be John Shuman, well-known Shorthorn breeder and showman of Deer Trail, Colo. Cattlemen from seven states are expected to attend.

Breed officials have expressed the view that this is the oldest consignment sale of its kind in point of John Shuman, well-known Shorthorn breed, having been held for over 50 years. Pike County, the home of many strong Shorthorn herds, has been a source of seed stock for breeders across the nation since well before the turn of the century

Wonder World—

What Are Rodents?

By Rip Barnsdall

Rodents have chisel-like front teeth that are especially useful in gnawing. There are many kinds of rodents.

The smallest of the rodents are the mice. The largest rodents are the capybaras, natives of South America, that reach a length of about four feet.

Many of the rodents have different living habits. Some, such as gophers, live in burrows in the ground. Field mice, as an example, build nests in meadows and forests. Some of the squirrels live in trees.

Water dwellers are also found among the rodents. Beavers are perhaps the best known of the water dwellers.

Most rodents are covered with fur. Their tails, in most cases, have no fur on them. Vegetable products are their chief food supply. The rodents eat roots, seeds, and nuts, and will often eat the crops planted by man.

Rodents are found in all parts of the world. There are more different kinds of rodents than any other group of animals. Although they live in the wilds, many of the rodents have become city and house dwellers. In cities and homes, rodents can cause much damage and loss of property.

Many other animals feed on rodents. Hawks, owls, and snakes help keep down mice and rats. Many of our hawks, often thought to be harmful, are of great help to man because of the great number of rodents that they eat.

CQ Radio Hams—

Building Radio From A Kit

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 1: Not Like Old Days

In the old days everything was home-built, from individually gathered parts, after the builder had decided on a given radio circuit.

He would make up a list of needed parts (if one was not included with the plans chosen), and then compute the total cost. Finally, if the budget was somewhat limited, these figures might have to be cut down somewhat; therefore, minor changes to the circuit might be needed to permit this cost adjustment.

Unless the circuit chosen was illustrated in an article complete with photographs or a pictorial diagram, it was up to the builder to figure out his own chassis and parts layout. For the beginner this can well lead to countless difficulties if he doesn't understand proper layout methods by which he can minimize, (for example), Hum and feedback difficulties.

Many times not all the required parts were available locally, and a suitable substitution had to be made; here again unless the beginner knows just what he is doing he can turn an interesting, worthwhile project into a nightmare of de-bugging!

Kit Changes Things

While there are still some of us (including the author) who enjoy "Rolling His Own," then came the kit. Therefore, in the next few articles some suitable information regarding construction of kits, trouble shooting, etc. will be covered.

newcomer, unpack you're new kit newcomer, unpack youre new kit you may be a bit frightened by the possible difficulties you may have in putting this new challenge together properly. This need not be the case! Any normally intelligent individual who can read, follow directions exactly, and use a soldering iron can assemble the smaller not too complicated radio electronic kits.

Such kits might include smaller communications or broadcast receivers, transmitters, "Q-Multipliers," smaller Hi-Fi amplifiers, smaller volt-ohm-milliameters, etc. Yes, anyone from 11 to 88 (or older possibly) can successfully assemble them; experience here with others has proven that.

Right, Wrong Way

There is a right and wrong way in building and assemblying a Kit of any type; be it a crystal receiver or a short-wave receiver, a DX-20 fifty watt code transmitter or a kilowatt, or a Hi-Fi kit.

Just what can you buy in kit form? Well, in the Electronic field, that now-a-days is quite a long list. Here is just a partial list:

Crystal Radios, Transistor Radios, A.C.D.C. 5-tube table model radios, multi-testers (volt-ohm-milliameters), signal generators, tube testers, vacuumtube volt-meters, amateur radio transmitters or receivers, transister checkers, and this partial list of kits comes in many sizes, and of widely different costs. Likewise, the difficulty of any particular unit may widely differ from a similar but larger unit.

Yet the kit designers have generally done a fine job in working out most of the difficulties that beginner might encounter providing said builder will follow directions to the letter.

Next week we shall speak of actually getting started on that new kit. While the author may mention some kit nationally advertised brands by name, in all fairness he shall not express any preferences herein.

Seven Men Train For Space Trip

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

The seven Project Mercury Astronauts were selected from test pilots in all three of the armed services. One of them will probably be the first man to be rocketed into orbit around the earth and brought back alive.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Space Task Groups has found the astronauts inspiring young men to work with. They are taking part in an extensive program of training, indoctrination, and specialized education to equip them to be pioneers in space.

This program includes: simulated flights into space aboard centrifuges and other devices that copy space flight; graduate level study of astronautics (space science) and astronomy; study of relief maps through periscopes to learn everything they may see of earth while in orbit; visit to Cape Canaveral to become familiar with the place from which one of them will be launched into space; visit McDonnell Aircraft Corporation in St. Louis, Mo., to be come familiar with the various features of the Project Mercury space capsule.

Besides this the astronauts undergo a strong program of physical education. This makes sure that they keep fit to cope with the problems they may meet in space, particularly in case of an emergency.

Skin Diving

One recreational activity that both gives the astronauts exercise and prepares them for space flight is skin diving. This also provides basic information on man's behavior in space. This is because the water buoys a person up and balances gravity almost as well as the speed of a satellite does.

The Project Mercury astronauts do their skin diving in a tank of water specially designed to cause disorientation. This helps the astronauts gain a variety of experience needed to cope with the conditions they will meet in orbit.

When the Propect Mercury satellite is launched into space it will circle the earth in an orbit specially chosen to allow a safe reentry and recovery in the warm south atlantic. The orbit was also planned so that the first three times arround the earth the satellite would pass over North America. This will enable the capsule to be tracked continously by radio so that its landing area can determined accurately.

To make sure that the Project Mercury mission is carried out safely, several radar, telementry (instrument message receiving) and communication stations are needed. Some of these are already in existance, and others are being built especially for Project Mercury. When enough of these stations are built they will provide close control over the capsule and continuous communication with its instruments and the astronaut.

Let's Go Birding—

Biggest Show Comes 'Free'

By Emma Mae Leonhard

What a hard cumbersome job learning is! How ignorant man can be, and what a tedious chore he always experiences to gain his victory over that ignorance! He skins his knees in order to learn to walk.

He goes to school for years in order to read the messages of great minds in different languages. He murders and tortures in order to appreciate peace and to make secure the rights of the individual for himself and for others. He shatters himself through experimentation in order to be able to sail, to ride, to fly.

What fun Charles Lamb had in laughing at people who burned their houses down in order to roast pig! Even we who search for new birds might well laugh at ourselves. We sweat; we freeze; we get hung up on thorns; we get stuck in the mud; we become blinded in the desert sands—yet we keep going, sometimes elated, sometimes disgusted. Then when we are ready to give up, we succeed.

As I was fingering through a book on birds in Britain and Europe, I came upon a page illustrating pipits and wagtails that were found there. I had heard and seen pipits in our own territory but had not heard of birds called wagtails. Here were illustrated five kinds of wagtails.

Would I see at least one of these birds as I was traveling in those foreign countries, I wondered. I had hopes of at least a lucky break, but only hopes. I resolved to work as hard as time and my planned itinerary would allow me.

Hope Fulfilled

Then my hopes were fulfilled sooner than hopes usually are. As my companions and I were wandering in Kew Gardens just outside of London, my eye caught the graceful flitting of a slender gray bird with white outer tail feathers. It was the very picture of the Pied Wagtail in my bird book.

It had the black crown, throat, and breast set off by its white body. Its tail was long and wagging much of the time.

"Free" Show

At last I had seen one wagtail by hard looking. Then the great show began. Wagtails were everywhere: in meadows, along streams, in parks, on rocky walls, along sewage farms, and cultivated land.

In many places I saw more wagtails than English Sparrows; I saw families of wagtails in Wales, Scotland, Norway, Denmark, Holland, France, Germany, and Switzerland. I haw in the gardens of cathedrals and the dirty lots.

Before my visit to the Continent had ended, I had identified the six kinds of wagtails: Pied, White, Yellow, Grey, and Blue-headed.

Area of the Pacific Ocean is 63,801,700 square miles.

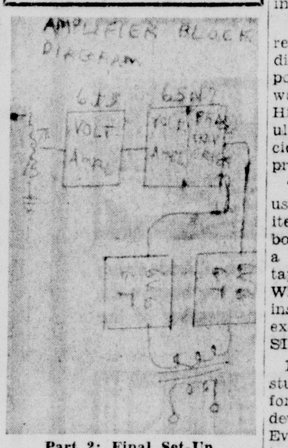
You Can Make Own Hi-Fi Gear

By Joseph A. Smith



Part 2: Final Set-Up

After preliminary experiments with conventional bass-treble boost and attenuation controls proved them to cause more distortion to appear in the output than I wanted, the final set-up (shown here as a simple block diagram) was decided upon.

This permitted straight-through amplifier operation for maximum realism. As we had both an A.M. and F.M. tuner here (a home-brewed and modified T.R.F. revr-tuner, and a model T-601 Pilot-tuner F.M. tuner), no great amount of pre-amplifier gain in the main amplifier was needed. (The author hastens to add that he cares little for records or tapes, and has no record player.)

A single voltage amplifier triode working into the first half of a dual-triode tube was sufficient to provide all necessary pre-amplifier gain. After considerable reading, discussion, and weighing advantages and disadvantages, the split-load type balanced phase-inverter was decided upon.

A pair of readily available (and relatively inexpensive) 6V6GT radio tubes were to be used as audio power output amplifiers. As we were hoping to obtain 12 watts of Hi-Fi quality audio from them, ultra-linier type operation was decided upon here as the best compromise with quality and cost.

The audio output transformer, usually the most expensive single item in a quality amplifier, can be bought for as little as $7 to $9 for a full-range ultra-linier screen-tapped type audio output XFMR. While again a compromise, actual instrument tests prove it to be an excellent one. (Newark radio model SI-102-0.)

Many different circuits were studied carefully by the author before the final schmetic diagram developed into a workable circuit. Every hum reducing as well as distortion minimizing idea the author could find was considered, and included, if possible, in the final diagram.

Such usual ideas of grid lead shielding, parallel filament wiring well filtered, high filtration in the power suppy, use of a common buss wire for all grounds, etc. were included in the effort to achieve a fine sounding Hi-Fi amplifier on a poor man's budget.

Finally, greater than usual care was taken in assembling the unit of only first class parts. (While used parts were used at first, these were gradually replaced with new ones).

Next week, more ideas on home projects.

DRIVER INJURED NEAR WOODSON

Harry Currier, 74, Route 2, driver of the car at right, was admitted to Passavant hospital following a two-car crash west of Woodson on Route 67 Friday at 2:15 p.m. He was rushed to the hospital in the Slavens ambulance suffering head injuries and multiple bruises.

Delbert Shade, 63, 145 Briggs Street, Roodhouse, driver of the car at left, and his wife, Mildred, 62, escaped injury in the crash.

State Police said the Currier auto was headed west, across the highway and the Shade auto was going north when the accident happened. The two vehicles collided on the highway.

State Troopers Reginald Fulks and Charles Pritchard attended at the scene of the accident. Both autos were towed from the scene by wreckers.

How Do Farmers Feel? Leaders Report Views At Regional Meeting

Farm Bureau representatives of 16 west central Illinois counties reported Thursday on what their members thought on a wide variety of subjects.

They met at Central Christian church. The local meeting was one of five to be held in the state to gather recommendations for the tentative resolutions committee of the Illinois Agricultural association, which meets in Chicago Nov 1-2.

The presiding officer was Edwin Gumm of Galesburg, I.A.A. vice president and chairman of the committee.

The reports were based on what Farm Bureau members said at township and county-wide meetings held last month. They varied considerably in the 16 counties, but in many areas they were in almost 100% agreement, and in general, the tenor of the reports was more conservative than in recent years.

Areas of agreement included:

1. Opposition to the proposed $345,000 bond issue to construct new buildings for the state universities and institutions. The I.A.A. strongly opposed this issue two years ago, and is doing the same this year. The organization contends that the bonds are not absolutely necessary, that they would be unduly expensive, and that the state should build on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

Advocate Income Tax

2. Continued efforts toward "tax reform." The legislature should "plug loopholes" in the sales tax plan and a state income tax should be levied, with the receipts to be used entirely to reduce real estate and personal property taxes. One county suggested a 1% tax on gross income, others suggested 3%, one advocated 5%, and one favored "an income tax high enough to replace all real estate and personal property taxes." The latter was called "a remote objective and an ideal solution for many of our problems." A corporation income tax, especially on foreign corporations doing business in Illinois, was especially advocated.

3. Increased state aid to schools was advocated, with some stating the state should pay "at least half of the total costs of operating the schools."

4. The I.A.A. board was instructed to continue pressing for uniform time, and to keep a special eye open for any attempts to move Eastern time to the Mississippi river. Fifteen counties advocated uniform time enforced by the Interstate Commerce Commission, with municipalities prohibited "from monkeying with the clock." One county report, however, observed that "so-called daylight saving time can be lived with, and the Illinois Agricultural association should devote its efforts to more pressing problems."

Fear Chemicals

5. Greater cooperation between the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Department of Welfare, Education and Health with manufacturers of farm chemicals and antibiotics was especially stressed. Those reporting stated emphatically "our food must not be poisoned." All were in agreement that "present day labelling on how to use farm chemicals is totally inadequate."

6. Stepped up efforts in the field of public relations are highly desirable, the reports stated. A public relations staff should be set up by the American Farm Bureau Federation "to explain fully the true position of the farmer." One county suggested the U.S.D.A. "should be ordered to refute or correct false information appearing in print or on radio and TV."

Would Publish Relief Roll

7. The administration of poor relief should be taken from the state and returned to township supervisors, and the names of those receiving relief, and the amount received, should be published and generally circulated. All able-bodied recipients should be forced to work or be removed from the relief rolls, and supervisors were urged "to take the time and trouble of putting them to work, even though many of them are practically worthless and a continuous source of aggravation." Better screening of applicants was especially advocated. "We must keep public aid from becoming a public nuisance" was a statement contained in one report.

8. Farmlands should not be included in tax supported districts, save by the direct vote of the landowners. "Many such districts, such as airports, park and sanitary districts, are of no or dubious benefit to farmers. The urban and rural vote should be separated, with an adverse vote in either precinct defeating the proposition."

What Farm Policy?

The greatest area of disagreement was on national farm policy. It appeared, from the reports, that no two counties wanted the same plan. Most of them, however, tended toward some crop limitations, some price supports—"at least until the surplus problem is solved."—and comparative freedom for the producer. Some thought the soil bank should be expanded, some thought it should be reduced on the basis of ineffectiveness and its cost.

Jersey county favored the Brannan plan, which would both subsidize and control agriculture. Christian county brought forward a rather novel approach, which they termed a program, "of, by and for the farmers." It would control production through township, county, state and national councils. Acre controls would be made on the local level, with the administration costs to be paid for by the farmers themselves on a proratio basis. The program would be policed by revocable certificates for each farm and marketing permits.

The reports also differed widely on whether the Farm Bureau should cooperate, and how much, with other farm organizations such as Farmers Union, the Grange, and the National Farm Organization. A majority favored non-cooperation, but others insisted there must be cooperation. The former especially voiced opposition to "unionization and holding off the market operations, with their threats and intimidations." The latter pointed out "the number of farmers are getting fewer each year, and we must present a united front."

From Morgan County

Cary Strang of Murrayville presented the Morgan county report. Farmers here opposed the bond issue and urged tax reform at both state and county levels. They pointed out that merchandise is assessed at cost, while farm products are assessed at market price. They also suggested that livestock farmers are penalized because they must pay taxes on stored feed, while grain farmers can avoid this part of their personal taxes through timely sales. They especially advocated more information on the use of farm chemicals, and they suggested that the Extension service could be of especial help in this field.

Advises Caution In Cribbing Corn Crop

Wilbur C. Williams, chairman of the Morgan County A. S. C. committee, advises farmers to exercise caution in early cribbing of 1960 Crop Corn.

To be eligible for a farm-stored ear corn loan, the corn must grade No. 3 or better or No. 4 on test weight only but otherwise grade No. 3 or better and must contain 21 percent or less moisture in a crib not in excess of 8 feet in width. If the crib width exceeds 8 feet, the moisture maximum is 1 percent less for each foot or fraction of a foot the crib width exceeds 8 feet.

Mr. Williams recommends farmers delay cribbing until they are certain their corn will meet eligibility requirements if they intend to apply for a farm storage loan.

The minimum loan rate for Morgan county is $1.08 per bushel based on grade No. 3 or better.

Further information relative to the price support program is available at the county A. S. C. office.

MURPHY TUB—A bathtub that folds into the wall is demonstrated at an industrial show in Rome, Italy.

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

PORTOFINO, Italy (AP)—Rock Hudson is making his first movie for his own company, but he does not act like a producer.

"I have enough trouble with acting," says Rock, who has delegated producer duties on "Come September" to Bob Arthur.

The company, with Rock, Gina Lollobrigida, Bobby Darin and Sandra Dee, came to this picturesque seacoast for exterior shots in the midst of the worst Italian floods in years.

"A producer of a picture has to get up at 6 a.m., look out his bedroom window and see if the sun is going to peek through. This is very hard to do when storms during the night have washed out railroad tracks and highways," Rock says.

"If he thinks there will be sun, he has to notify about 100 people. Then, if the sun comes out, he's a genius. If not, then he must sit around and watch 100 people get paid big money for just sitting. That's why the ulcer rate among producers is so high. No thank you, I'd sooner be a sitting-around actor."

Rock's first independent production made jointly with his old studio, Universal-International, is a sophisticated comedy he hopes will be another "Pillow Talk" at the boxoffice.

PORTOFINO, Italy (AP)—Sandra Dee says she will be the happiest girl in the world come November "when I see that big blanket of smog over Los Angeles."

Sandra, 18, has made two long pictures in a row in Italy—"Romanoff and Juliet" and "Come September."

"Italy is wonderful—if you're a tourist. But I have to work every da, and I miss my friends back home. I never thought I'd get homesick for smog but I am."

ROME (AP)—When Jack Diamond, director of studio publicity for Universal-International in Hollywood, arrived in Italy, he was startled to see huge billboards plastered all over the country which read: "Jack Diamond, Gangster."

It happens to be the European title for a Warner Bros. movie called "The Rise and Fall of Legs Diamond."

JUVENILE PERSPECTIVE

by Janet Henry

From Monday through Friday their room's so untidy
It's truly a household disgrace,
So Saturday morning, with five days of warning,
I tackle the terrible place.

I sweep the deposit from corners and closet
(A shovel's more help than a broom!).
My two sons, however, appraise the endeavor
With "Who messed around in our room?"

Here is an amusing hand from a board in a match team game. At one table North decided to raise his partner right to three no-trump. West opened the deuce of spades in accordance with the theory that he had best attack where he held something. East put up the king and returned the jack. South covered with the queen and the defense gathered in five spade tricks right off the bat.

At the other table North was in a bidding mood and eventually landed his partner at six no-trump. West made the conservative lead of the ten of clubs and South proceeded to run off all 13 tricks. West could have held him to six, but unfortunately discarded a club somewhere along the way.

One could not expect West to lead a low spade against the no-trump slam, but I do think that he should have laid down the ace. North's bidding clearly indicated a long suit and West should have taken his ace before the mice got it. East would have signaled strongly and West would have continued the suit to set the slam one trick that the other side set the game contract.

Break Ground At Jerseyville For Church

JERSEYVILLE — Ground was broken Wednesday evening for the new Assembly of God Church at the intersection of Barr Avenue and South Pearl Streets. One and a half blocks south of the Jacoby Brothers Funeral Home. The congregation unanimously voted to construct the new church edifice at a meeting some time ago.

Among those participating in the ground breaking ceremonies were the Illinois District Superintendent Reverend E. M. Clark; C. W. Marshall of Pittsfield, Sectional Presbyter in the Assembly of God Church; the Reverend Alton Loar, president of the Jerseyville Ministerial Association; the pastor Reverend E. C. Goss, and the Board of Trustees, Mation Walker, Paul McGarvey, and William Turner. All who wished to do so were permitted to turn a spade of dirt in the Cross that was formed in the building.

The cost of the new building has been estimated at $35,000 with the final valuation at $55,000. One feature of the building will be that there are no steps except those on the platform. Pastor Goss expressed the hope that the new church will be completed in time for an Easter dedication service.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Mrs. Don Brown Final Winner In Courtesy Campaign

Mrs. Don Brown of Rural Route 1 Jacksonville was judged the most courteous and cautious driver Thursday morning by Don Fiedler (left), representing Salem Lutheran P.T.A., and Mrs. C. W. Nicholson, (right) president of the North Jacksonville Community Club.

The award was the sixth and final $10 presentation in the three-week Courtesy Campaign, co-sponsored by the Journal Courier and Chicago Motor Club.

It took only 40 minutes after a our of the city to spot Mrs. Brown driving on the square. She caught the judges eyes when she stopped to let a pedestrian pass and then proceeded with caution around the square. To get in the proper lane for a right turn onto West Morgan Mrs. Brown put her blinker light into operation.

The final winner stopped and looked both ways before crossing South West. Her blinker signaled for a left turn on South Church and she maintained the speed limit down Church. She had a green light at the West College ntersection but she looked both ways before crossing. Her Chevrolet came to complete halts at the stop signs on West Beecher and Anna streets.

Mrs. Brown kept both hands on the wheel throughout the journey ntil she readied her car for a left turn onto Richards. Here she gave a hand signal and used the blinker light for the turn which pleased the judges very much. Her destination was 207 Richards to visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul Kroush, and she repeated the arm and blinker signal for a right turn into the driveway and the judges had a winner.

Mrs. Brown, whose three-year-old daughter Karla Jo accompanied her on the $10 journey, has a spotless driving record in her 12 years behind the wheel. When asked what she would do with the money Mrs. Brown replied, "Well, I purchased some bowling shoes yesterday and this should just about take care of the cost. I thank you very much."

Previous winners in the campaign claiming $10 prizes for being courteous and cautious have been Edward F. Wessler of Arenzville; Delbert L. Black of 325 Anna; Mrs. Lois Spencer of Route 1, Winchester; Jerry Anderson of Route 4, Jacksonville; and Leslie Vuylsteke of 279 Sandusky.

The successful Safety Campaign has made motorists, pedestrians and cyclists realize there is a reward in being a good citizen by showing thoughtfulness for others.

Find Kerosene At Site Of GM&O Bridge Fire

Jacksonville city firemen were called to a site northeast of town Friday afternoon where a wooden bridge over the GM & O railroad had caught fire. The fire was quickly brought under control and damage to the struoture was slight.

Investigation, however, revealed that the understructure of the bridge had been soaked in kerosene, and the fire apparently set by unknown individuals. The evidence was turned over to Morgan County sheriff's deputies who are investigating the case with GM & O railroad authorities.

The alarm was reported to the fire department at 4:40 p.m.

Speaking of Busy People . . . Tom Carmody Finds That a 'Teacher's Work is Never Done'

It often seems to Tom Carmody that he no sooner gets his students settled down and back to work in September when it's time for Christmas recess. Time flies by for a busy person like Tom Carmody, who is entrusted with an important job in our community. He makes every minute count by using short cuts wherever possible. He's a firm believer in the Elliott Budget Checking Account, for example. He pays his monthly bills by check and one trip to the mailbox replaces numerous journeys around town paying bills by cash. He has a handy record of everything he spends right in his check book and uses his cancelled checks as receipts. The Budget Checking Account is designed for busy people and is one of the reasons people enjoy doing business with the people at Elliott. Stop in and open your account today. Girl Scout Council Is Making Birthday Plans

Girl Scouts all over the United States are soon to celebrate not one but two birthdays. They will do this by commemorating the past and serving the future. The theme chosen to express this purpose is "Honor the Past — Serve the Future."

Members of the Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council will begin celebrating "The Birthday Years, 1960-1962" on October 24 with a Founder's Day dinner to be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Central Christian church in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, council president, will formally open the three-year-long series of council and troop events at this time.

"Birthday Years" are so called because October 31, 1960, is the 100th anniversary of the birth of the founder of Girl Scouts in the U.S.A. Juliette Low was known as "Daisy" to her friends. Hence the daisy will be worn by all Girl Scouts as her symbol during this period.

U.S.A. Nears 50th Year

1962 marks the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting in the U.S.A. Daisy Low started the Girl Scout movement in this country because she said it would be "the best thing ever for girls." She was able to convince a great many people that this was so. Only a few years after she formed the first troop of 12 girls in Savanna, Ga., in 1912, Girl Scout troops were organized all over the country.

When needed, a National Council was formed. Today there are 5,402,000 members; 800,000 are men and women; of this number more than 99% are volunteers. It is they who carry the leadership and administrative responsibilities.

Unprecedented membership growth soon made the shifting of routine and other responsibilities necessary. Groups of communities called area councils were chartered and given specific privileges and duties within their own geographical boundaries.

Council 4 Counties

Illinois Prairie Council was formed on the lines of Cass, Morgan, Scott and Greene counties. Jacksonville is its center. People from this large area pool their time and talents to serve the Girl Scouts.

Board of Directors and Board committee members of Illinois Prairie Council are: Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, president; Mrs. Howard Choate, 1st vice president; Mrs. Sam Pack, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Albert Hall, secretary; Mrs. Helen S. Casey, treasurer; committee chairmen, Mrs. Edward Anderson, Mrs. William Gross, Mrs. Howard Houlette, Mrs. George McNamara, Mrs. Charles Vieira, Mr. Chester Hemphill and Mrs. Leroy Martin.

Neighborhood chairmen, Mrs. Walter Lohman of Ashland; Mrs. Bud Roth of Carrollton, Mrs. Frank Clay of Jacksonville, Mrs. Theo Ball of Waverly, Mrs. Merton L. Pond of Bluffs.

Member-at-large, Mrs. Lawrence Thien.

Borad committees: Program Mrs. William Gross, chairman, Mrs. Floyd Sorrill, Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. Elmer Lukeman, Mrs. F. F. McCarthy, Mrs. L. Vernon Caine; Public relations, Mrs. George McNamara, Mrs. Richard Bond, Mrs. Bill Ator; Camp, Mrs. Marie Houlette, Mr. and Mrs. Perk Chumley, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Plummer, Mrs. Leo Campbell, Mrs. Robert Brubaker, Mr. Jack Wise, Mrs. Leroy Martin, Mrs. Bill Buchanan.

Training, Mrs. Leroy Martin, Mrs. C. W. Nicholson, Mrs. Marguerite Dixon; Finance, Chester Hemphill, Mrs. Jack Wise, Mr. Gilbert Todd and Mr. Leonard Wilson; Membership - nominating, Mrs. Edward Anderson, Mrs. George Losch and Mrs. Louis Dean; Employed personnel, Mrs. Charles Vieira, Mrs. Sherwood Eddy.

The first Council project for the Birthday Years has been "Find Our Founders." A short history of the Council as it progressed has been completed by Mrs. Richard Bond, public relations secretary and Council historian. A series of interviews with the founders has also been started. Some of the local founders who will be interviewed personally are:

Dr. Mary Louise Newman, Mrs. Harrison King, Mrs. R. Y. Rowe, Sr., Miss Helen Sweeney, Miss Frances Frisch, Miss Margurita Schoedsack, Mrs. Jay Hamilton, and Hazel Bell Walton.

Committees making preparations for the dinner to be held October 24 are the program committee, Mrs. William Gross, chairman, and the public relations committee, Mrs. George McNamara, chairman.

Crimsons Find New Life In 2nd Half For 21-0 Triumph

Jacks Lose Jitters And Play Inspired Ball In A Bruising Contest

By STAN SPOTTS
Journal Courier Sports Editor

Coach Bob Kraushaar's Crimsons, a bunch of tame boys in the first half, became a crew of aggressive 'Tigers' in the second half and played an inspired game to celebrate homecoming in a winning fashion Friday night with a 21-0 decision over Joe Jurkanin's Jerseyville Panthers. The large turnout got its money's worth as the annual grid rivalry turned into a bruising and hotly-contested ball game from start to finish.

It was evident the rival opponents were really knocking heads as it was plastic vs. plastic and leather vs. leather on every tackle of every play. The first half seemed to be a mental one for the Jacks as they made more mistakes in the first 24 minutes of play than they have in their past four outings. This factor was attributed to homecoming but JHS seemed a different squad in the final two quarters and the game took on an air of physical strength because Jacksonville definitely wore Jerseyville down in the final 24 minutes of play.

The Panthers were never inside of Jacksonville's 30 yard marker in the second half and they were held to 37 yards rushing whereas the Crimsons gained 64 yards in the final half but amassed 178 yards via three passes.

Gary Spangenberg figured in all three Crimson tallies as he scored on a four-yard off tackle play in the third stanza, pitched a 76 yard scoring pass to end Jack McCarty and scampered 60 yards to paydirt on a punt return in the final period. The Crimson mentors wouldn't single out an outstanding performer as they felt it was a tough team victory.

Several Standouts

Such names as Erland Thady, Wes Coulter, Gary Spangenberg, Ron Tomhave, Ron Yates, John Wright, Bill Upchurch, Rich Spencer and Mike Mentler come to mind when we think of the defensive task JHS had to perform against a huge Jerseyville squad. The passing of Spangenberg and Stanford and the receiving of Jack McCarty and Ron Tomhave was exceptional on three plays. A person would have to travel some distance to see the kind of punt sophomore Ron Yates got off in the fourth quarter. He started the punt from his own 30 and the spiraled pigskin hit in the end zone 70 yards away. Ken Norton shined his kicking toe up once again by booming one kickoff to Jerseyville's end zone in addition to splitting the uprights for three extra points.

But halfback Spangenberg stole the offensive highlight with some clutch running and passing when the Crimsons needed the spark to get started. After Jacksonville received an open to second half, a mix-up in plays cost them six yards before Norton carried to the 34 of the Crimsons. Spangenberg found Tomhave open on the next play and the pass covered 44 yards before the Panthers could bring down the elusive end co-captain on the Jerseyville 22. QB Bill Stanford kept the drive alive with a 13 yarder to end Jack McCarty to the seven. On the eighth play of the 63 yard drive, Spangenberg bolted his way over from the four on an off-tackle slant on the right side. Norton covered for a 7-0 lead with 8:56 left in the third canto.

Jerseyville drove to Jacksonville's 47 after a first down pickup but Tomhave intercepted and the Jacks began a sustained drive to Jerseyville's 23 before they fumbled and the Panthers took over with 0:42 seconds remaining. The third quarter ended on Jerseyville's 25 yard line.

Final Quarter Successful

The drive bogged down on the 29 as the final quarter got underway and Jerseyville booted to JHS' 24 stripe. On the first play of the series, Spangenberg took a pitchout to the right, tossed a 21 yard pitch to McCarty, who took it on the 45, and with beautiful timing on a Jerseyville defender he went 55 yards down the west sidelines to score and cap the 76 yard play. Norton's kick was good and JHS enjoyed a 14-0 margin over Jerseyville, who as yet are winless in four starts with Jacksonville. Only 54 seconds had ticked by in the fourth quarter when the aerial attack struck.

Following the JHS kickoff and no gain, the Panthers punted to Jacksonville's 40 where Spangenberg hauled it in. He cut for the west sidelines, picked up a key block from Mike Mentler, sidestepped the final Panther in his path and went 60 yards to put JHS fifth win of the season on the record books. Norton's end-over-end kick crossed the uprights for the point after to end all scoring for the evening.

Begin Fast

Jerseyville received to open the bitter struggle but the Panthers fumbled on the kickoff and Spangenberg recovered on the Panther 22. The Crimsons drove to the one where Stanford sneaked over but a penalty nullified the tally and JHS eventually lost the ball on downs back on the 11. A quick kick and a pass interception gave Jerseyville the ball on its own 36. The Panthers drove to Jacksonville's 23 but a 15 yard holding penalty put the ball in play on the JHS 40.

Two plays later Frank Dunham connected with Rich Raftis on a pass and the play carried to the Crimson 18 as the initial quarter ended.

Gisy picked up six to the 12 from where he scored a play later but illegal procedure offset the tally. Three plays later JHS got out of trouble when guard Bill Upchurch recovered a fumble in the Crimson end zone and Jacksonville had the ball on its own 20. The Jacks showed signs of life in the final five minutes before halftime but what they gained was offset in ineffective blocking and they elected to punt out of the first half with Yates getting off a 56 yard boot. The first half ended with Jerseyville in mid-field.

JHS' starting lineup, defensive — McCarty, LE; Wright, LT; Upchurch, LE; Wells, C; Decker, RG; Hildner, RT; Norton, RE; Stanford, QB; Spangenberg, LHB; Yates, FB; Thady, RHB.

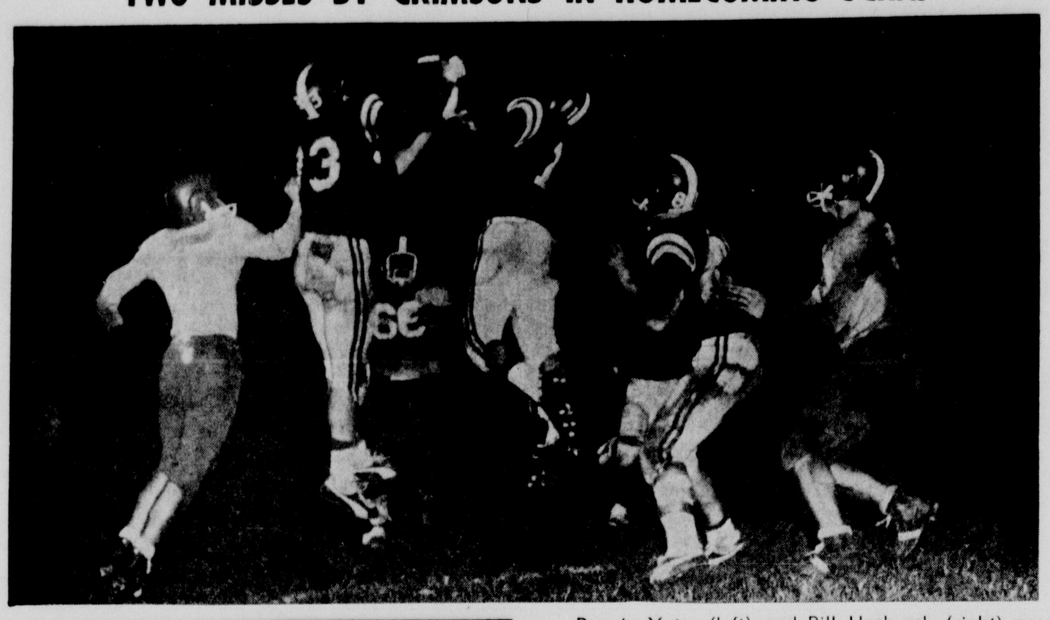
TWO MISSES BY CRIMSONS IN HOMECOMING SCRAP



Ronnie Yates (left) and Bill Upchurch (right) go up high for a pass interception but the Crimson defenders couldn't hang on and Jerseyville received another play in the fourth quarter of Jacksonville's 21-0 win Friday night. End Ron Tomhave (81) was in the end zone and would have had Jacksonville's first touchdown in the third quarter but he couldn't latch onto Bill Stanford's pass. The Jacks scored a play later on a four yarder by Spangenberg.

Routt Rockets Have Easy Time With Bluejays, 46-6

PETERSBURG— The Routt Rockets got their fourth victory in five outings, and spilled Petersburg to its fifth straight loss by a rousing 46-6 score Friday night. The Bob Winstead eleven scored in every period as they filled the air with passes and got six of their seven TD's via the aerial route.

Fred Curtis and Jack Lawless played their usual outstanding game and accounted for five touchdowns between them. Curtis started the ball rolling on a 22 yard jaunt around end for the first score. Cors then hit Ed Carroll with a 45 yard pass play and Curtis followed with a 28 yarder to fellow halfback Lawless for two more TD's. Runs by Curtis and Lawless and a Cors to Curtis pass accounted for the three extra points.

Petersburg squeezed a touchdown in the midst of this spurt by the Rockets, on a 25 yard pass from Moats to Hill. It was their only threat of the evening at Routt's defense composed of Aragano, Clancy, Lawless and Critchelow were outstanding.

Routt continued to roll in the second period as Lawless fired a 35 yard aerial to Brennan for one TD and fired another to Curtis of 40 yards, and the Rockets had a 33-6 lead at the half.

Joe Cors, who made Winstead extremely happy with the way he filled in at the quarterback slot, threw his second touchdown pass of the night on a 23 yard play to Carroll after Lawless and Curtis had combined once again, this time for a 70 yard marker. Cors, filling in for regular Buck Sullivan who is out with an injured knee, threw well throughout the contest, called a fine game and failed to fumble even once.

The Rockets were not too pressed by hapless Petersburg, but displayed a powerful offensive machine and a sturdy defense to gain the victory.

Score by quarters:

Routt	20	13	6	7

Name Murtaugh NL Manager Of Year

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Murtaugh, the leader of Pittsburgh's first world championship team in 35 years, Friday was named National League Manager of the Year for 1960 in the annual Associated Press poll.

Murtaugh scored a clear victory over Solly Hemus of the St. Louis Cards in the balloting by 193 baseball writers. The Pirates' pilot received 127 votes while Hemus collected the remaining 66.

Murtaugh, 43, completed his third full year as the Pirates' boss the past season. He took over from Bobby Bragan on Aug. 3, 1957. He steered Pittsburgh into second place in 1958, but the team dropped to fourth in 1959.

His 1960 Pirates were tabbed for fourth place in The Associated Press preseason poll. However, with help from a sustained batting attack which made effective use of the hit-and-run, a tight defense and good pitching, Murtaugh brought his club home seven games ahead of the Milwaukee Braves.

The Pirates clinched the pennant, their first since 1927, on Sept. 25, a week before the end of the regular campaign. The Series triumph over the New York Yankees was their first since 1925 when they beat the Washington Senators in seven games.

Murtaugh, a native of Chester, Pa., played the infield for Philadelphia, Boston and Pittsburgh of the National League, closing his big league career as an active participant in 1951.

Hemus made a fine managerial comeback, piloting the Cardinals to third place after a seventh-place finish in 1959—his first as a major league manager.

Friday Night Area Results

Greenfield 20 Roodhouse 0

GREENFIELD — Coach Don Gustine's Greenfield Tigers celebrated their Homecoming activities in grand style as they defeated arch rival, Roodhouse, in a bid for the Illinois Valley crown. The Tigers were at their best as they picked up their fifth victory without a loss.

Roodhouse had only one chance to score and this was a 60 yard jaunt which was nullified by a penalty. The Tigers were off as Ron Meyer sparked their initial drive and finally pounded over from the five for the score. The kick for the PAT was no good.

Ballard capped a 60 yard drive in the second period as he dove over from the 2. Wellhausen converted. Wellhausen scored the final Tiger touchdown in the final frame as Roodhouse fumbled on their own 11 and D. Ballard recovered. Greenfield then drove down to the 1 from where Wellhausen carried it over. He also kicked the point after.

Score by quarters:

Greenfield	6	7	0	7
Roodhouse	0	0	0	0

Beardstown 14 Feitshans 12

BEARDSTOWN — The Beardstown Tigers joined in the parade of Homecoming victors Friday night as they nipped a potent Feitshans High of Springfield 14-12. Both teams did all their scoring in the first half and the Tigers got that all important point after through the educated toe of Orwig.

Beardstown scored first on a 3 yard plunge by Moss after Cowen had fired a 20 yard aerial to Kirchner to set up the score. Orwig converted and it was 7-0. It was not for long as Feitshans took over on the 40 from where Saunders passed 35 yards to Walder who gathered it in and scampered the remaining 25 for a 60 yard play. The attempted kick for the point after was no good and spelled defeat for the Flyers already.

In the second quarter Moss took a handoff for Beardstown, couldn't find a hole, reversed his field and skipped 40 yards for the TD. Orwig again made the kick good. With 10 seconds remaining in the first half, Feitshans capped a 90 yard march with a 45 yard pass play from Hayes to Williams but the kick was again no good.

The Flyers had two chances to score in the second half as they recovered Beardstown fumbles, once on the 23 and again on the 35, but couldn't score. With 3 minutes left to play the Flyers drove to the 5 yard line but on the next play were thrown for a 9 yard loss by the tough Tiger defense and were thwarted again.

Score by quarters:

Beardstown	7	7	0	0
Feitshans	6	6	0	0

Virginia 25 Pleasant Hill 0

PLEASANT HILL — Coach John Hembrough's Virginia High Redbirds picked up their second win of the season as they downed Pleasant Hill Friday night 25-0. The Redbirds were in control all the way, as they scored in every quarter to garner the victory.

Jokisch threw the first of his three scoring efforts on a 20 yard pass to Brannan but the attempted pass for the point after was no good. Charles Dudley rambled 10 yards for the second score to open the second stanza and also ran the PAT.

Virginia continued to capitalize on Pleasant Hill's weak pass defense as they scored again on a Jokisch to Brannan pass and finally Jokisch punched over for a TD to complete the point getting for the evening. Pleasant Hill was hampered by the lack of experience as they have only one senior on the entire squad.

Score by quarters:

Virginia	6	7	6	6

Triopia 35 Bluffs 0

ARENZVILLE — The Triopia Trojans won their fourth straight game without a loss Friday night as they racked up a 35-0 victory over Bluffs in a game which saw Coach Don Kemp play the whole second half with his junior varsity.

The Trojans used the long scoring threat to gain their TD's as Hainsmeier started things off with an 80 yard pass-run to Roegge and Anderson ran the first of his four extra points. Still in the initial quarter, the Trojans scored on a 50 yard jaunt by Anderson.

Roegge added his marker in the second period as he romped 30 yards for one and then fired a 40 yarder to Paul for another TD. Hainsmeier joined in the parade again with a 50 yard pass play, this time to Kleinschmidt. Triopia has now scored 144 points to its opponents' 6 in their four winning games.

Score by quarters:

Pittsfield 13 Rushville 0

PITTSFIELD — Pittsfield High School successfully wound up its homecoming activities with a victory and under the tutorship of coach Glen Smith began its defense of the Mid-West Conference crown by defeating Rushville Friday night 13-0. The Saukees scored twice in the first half and then held off Rushville the second half to gain the win.

Pittsfield scored first on a 35 yard pass play from McGinnis to end, Ray Ghrist. Boyd ran the extra point. They struck again early in the second quarter on a sustained drive which ended with fullback Dave Shaw driving over from the five. An attempted pass for the PAT was unsuccessful and the scoring for the evening was over.

Rushville controlled the ball throughout the whole second half and with the outstanding ball carrying of halfback Dean Paisley, had several chances to score but could not take advantage of the situations.

Score By Quarters:

Pittsfield	7	6	0	0
Rushville	0	0	0	0

Hardin 13 Winchester 0

HARDIN—Hardin picked up their fourth win in five games with touchdowns in the second and fourth periods and gained a 13-0 victory over Winchester. Hardin was dominating throughout the contest and failed to punch over the score when they had the opportunity.

The first period was a scoreless affair with Winchester recovering a Hardin fumble for the only threat. Charles Holloway capped an 80 yard drive for Hardin by scampering over from the 7 yard line and they had the lead they needed.

The third quarter was played in Winchester's back yard with Hardin getting down to the Wildcats' 6 yard stripe, but failing to score. Jerry Bland finished another long drive for Hardin on a 12 yard explosion and also kicked the extra point in the final stanza to end the Illinois Valley contest.

Score by quarters:

Hardin	0	6	0	7
Winchester	0	0	0	0

Carrollton 12 White Hall 7

CARROLLTON — Coach Red Moore's Hawks wasted little time in hitting paydirt to garner a 12-7 victory over White Hall here Friday night for their fourth win in five starts.

White Hall fumbled the opening play and Bob Shannon of Carrollton scored two plays later on a four yard run. After an exchange of punts, Carrollton wound up on White Hall's 20 and Ron Schroeder hit Shannon in the end zone for the score.

With seven minutes left in the game, Dave Chapman of the Maroons scooted 75 yards and added the extra point for White Hall's only score.

The Hawks got some fine defensive action from Delbert Brooks and Bill Winters, who had 11 and 10 tackles, respectively. The oddity of the game was Carrollton's 55 yards in penalties to White Hall's big flat 0.

Carrollton	6	6	0	0	—12
White Hall	0	0	0	7	— 7

Officials — Whalen, Williams and Frasier.

In April, 1944, the strange behavior of homing pigeons in Rome, the Nettuno-Anzio beachhead nearby, and in fact the whole Italian Campaign were not of really first importance to planning the war in London and Washington. Still, for reasons of interservice pride, the entire morning of April 17th was consumed for General "Jake" Nolan of U.S. Intelligence, Lt.-General George Morris, commanding the Signal Corps of the United States Army, and a half-dozen assistants of each; they sat in "Georgie" Morris's impressive office in the Pentagon among vacuum water jugs, currents of conditioned air, ash trays, mahogany, pictures of General Morris's wife and three daughters (strangely similar to the picture of a wife and three daughters in Oberst Krafft's office in Rome).

"It seems," began Morris, "that our boys in Italy are fighting one another more than they are the Krauts."

No more test flights would be held. Harrington's man in Rome with the code name of Paolo would be told to lie low until the capture of the city. Then the pigeons could be inspected and a verdict reached. For the sake of peace, General Morris's man, General Reilly, at Fifth Army would accept Colonel Harrington's apology, and, indeed, subsequently apologize himself, thus preserving the protocol of rank.

"Thank you, George"—Nolan rose as he addressed General Morris—"and I'm as sorry as you are we cannot run other tests now. Things are fouled up in Rome; mass execution of hostages; vastly increased counter-intelligence activities by the Germans; and now the assassination of one of Himmler's pet officers, a Major Hostrup, apparently by Resistance Forces. It was Colonel Harrington's judgment, agreed to by my Italian desk here in Washington, and by me, that our Plum Mission in Rome go off the air, suspend activities, and hole up for a week or two."

When Paolo and Tonino deciphered Harrington's message ordering them to suspend all activities, stay off the air and hole up, they and Rossini and Luchino made a show of being impatient, but each in his heart was relieved. The tension and fear of waiting for an indefinitely postponed Allied capture of Rome had taken a high toll of nerves—and of courage.

Paolo and Tonino buried the radio and coding equipment in its damp-proof case in a wood lot near Mont'Alto's farm. The four of them stayed largely confined to the house, with the exception of single members of the group making forays every two or three days to get food or for the gossip of what was happening in the outside world, for which their appetite was equally great. Like shut-ins—prisoners and invalids—they chewed their mental fingernails, counted the days and hours, and imagined things even worse than they were.

"I'll have to go to Rome tomorrow," Luchino said to the others late one evening. "I can't understand why Felice hasn't sent me some sort of word."

"If anything were wrong," Rossini replied, "certainly her father would have let you know somehow."

A little before noon the next day Paolo spotted Partenopa coming back across the fields from the lane. For two hours or more one or another of them had been nervously going to the window every few moments to look for her. "She's bringing the vegetables back!" said Paolo.

All four of them started for the front door.

"Please, let me talk to her," said Luchino. "You go sit down. You look so jumpy I'm afraid she'll forget everything if we all speak at once." The others turned back as Luchino opened the door.

"Mamma mia! She's all right, but they arrested them. The little boy, too, Roma!"

Luchino took her gently by the shoulders and pushed her into a seat.

"Who was arrested, Partenopa?"

"Signor Ciccio and his little son. Mama mia! The poor fellow! They arrested him and his little boy. And carted them off to prison—and took the pigeons, too."

"When did this happen?" asked Luchino.

"His little girl who was in the Vicolo told me—I never go up; I wait in the street as you told me to—she said they took them off yesterday morning. But I asked the shoemaker at the corner, and he said it was yesterday afternoon. Who knows?"

* * *

With a composure he did not feel Luchino smiled at Partenopa. "Thank you. It was a long, hard morning. Go put the stuff away in the kitchen and then go out to your cottage and lie down awhile. We are in no hurry to eat. Don't worry about Romolo and his boy. They will be all right."

They remained silent until she had left the room.

"I've got to get him out," said Luchino almost in a whisper. "Not only for what he's done for us, but because in a sense he's become a member of my family. And it was I who allowed him to involve his little boy in these things. If it had only happened before we exchanged those two—Wolff and Schenkel."

"You might go to Monsignor O'Toole," Paolo suggested.

"I'm not sure he's too well disposed toward us after Saverio Mont'Alto ran over him roughshod. And the pigeons—they may have shot him already if they realized those are homing pigeons," Luchino replied.
